President J. C. Futrall.

To

Giles Emmet Ripley

who is devoting his life to the students of the University.
this volume of the Cardinal is respectfully dedicated

PROFESSOR GILES EMMET RIPLEY was born in Adams County, Indiana, in 1874. He was left an orphan at an early age, for his father died when he was only six months old and his mother when he was six years old. His earliest school days were spent in the country schools of Adams County. He then attended a private Normal at Marion. After he had completed the normal school, he entered Purdue University in 1895 and was graduated in 1899 with the degree of Bachelor of Science. While in college he was literary editor and department editor on the college weekly. During his senior year he was class historian. His first teaching was done in the Eastern Indiana Normal University, where he was head of the department of Science during the year 1899. From 1900 to 1902, he was in charge of the department of Chemistry and Physics at the High School of Racine, Wisconsin. In 1902 he received the degree of Master of Arts from Purdue. The next two years of his life were spent in the contracting and retailing business at Winchester, Indiana. He taught at Marquette, Michigan, from 1904 to 1905. During the years from 1905 to 1908 he was head of the department of Science at the State Normal, Valley City, North Dakota. He studied at Chicago during the year 1908. In the fall of 1908 he came to the University of Arkansas, where he has done much earnest work to better the College of Engineering. His attractive personality and kindliness of spirit have led all his students to love and respect him.

Foreword

In publishing this volume of THE CARDINAL we have endeavored to make it a souvenir of the college year rather than a book of particular literary merit. May it equal its predecessors in promoting the Spirit of a Greater Institution and thus contribute its share towards making a Greater Arkansas.

Trusting that our efforts will meet with your approval, we now introduce to you what will one day be your Alma Mater, The University.

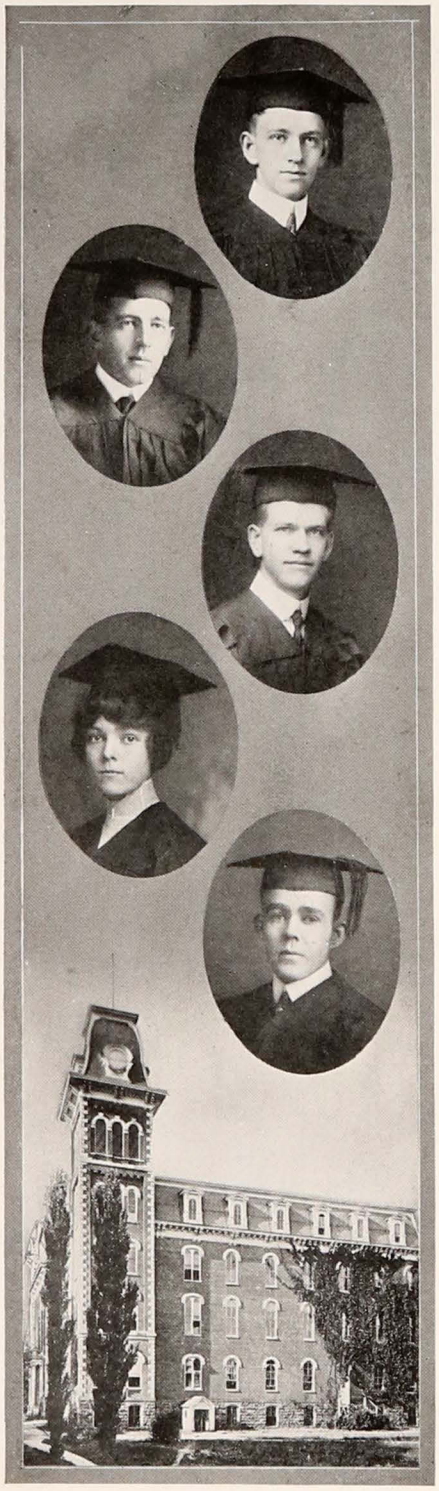
Fayetteville, Ark.

English, '13. English Graduate Scholarship.



Seniors

WOODY, L. D., ΣX.....Civil Engineering.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Love me, love my dog."

Aside from one short story published in the Arkansan, we have been unable to discover anything unusual that he has ever done.

ANDREWS, M., ΘNE.....Agriculture.
Siloam Springs, Ark.

"Pray, Danny, please to moderate the rancour of your tongue!
Why flash those sparks of fury from your eyes?
Remember, when the judgment's weak the prejudice is strong."

One of the leaders in the reformation in hazing.

ADAMS, NOAH, Kohinur.....Civil Engineering.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"A youth to fortune and to fame unknown."

Until he was suddenly elected to the presidency of the class to fill Dowdle's unexpired term.

ADAMS, ELIZABETH, XΩ, Skull.....English.
Pine Bluff, Ark.

"So Nature wrote her charms upon thy face,—
The cheeks bright bloom, the lips envermeilled dye,
And every gay and every witching grace
That youth's warm hours and beauty's store supply."

Elizabeth has made herself famous in U. of A. history by being the first girl to hold the position of Editor-in-Chief of the Weekly.

WOLF, W. H., ΣX.....Electrical Engineering.
Mt. Home, Ark.

"The boy with that grave mathematical look."

The girls say that he is shy, but such a good dancer!

BERRY, B. M.....Agriculture.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"His wit invites you by his looks to come,
But when you knock it never is at home."

About all we know concerning him is that he is a farmer and especially fond of the girl(s).

BOYD, FRANCES LEONE, ΔΔΔ, Sapphic.....English.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Poetry is the blossom and fragrance of all human knowledge, human thoughts, passions, emotions."

And Frances' college career prophesies well for her future as a poet. Many of her poems have excited a great deal of wondering comment and praise.

BRYANT, ANNA, ΔΔΔ, Sapphic.....Pedagogy.
Rector, Ark.

"She doeth little kindnesses
Which most leave undone or despise;
For naught that sets one heart at ease,
Is low esteemed in her eyes."

"Anna" has worked hard in all her class' activities since she was a Freshman, and her class has always honored her with an office.

BRENNAN, MILDRED.....English.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Modest and shy as a nun is she."

She is known chiefly for her talented voice and engaging ways.

BUERKLE, J. G., ΣX.....Mechanical Engineering.
Stuttgart, Ark.

"He is one of those wise philanthropists who in a time of famine would vote for nothing but a supply of toothpicks."

Nevertheless, he delivered the Junior Class from insolvency.

BARTON, ALMA, ΔΔΔ.....German.
Jonesboro, Ark.

"To see her is to love her,
And love but her forever,
For Nature made her what she is
And never made another."

Alma entered school as a Junior, but that irresistible charm of hers has already wrought its havoc.

BIRD, NELL, Sapphic.....English.
Waldron, Ark.

" 'Tis beauty that doth oft make women proud,
'Tis virtue that doth made them most admired."

And "Nelle" has all of these. She has been a leader in college, the orator of her class in her Junior year, and this year Editor-in-Chief of the Arkansan.

ARMITAGE, MARGUERITE, Z T A, Torch.....German.
Harrison, Ark.

"And cloudy the day, or stormy the night,
The sky of her heart was always bright."

"Pete" has found that cheerfulness and eternal good spirits are excellent things in woman—and in "Rita" in particular.

BLACKSHIRE, DEANE, Sapphic.....English.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"In many ways does the full heart reveal
The presence of the love it would conceal!"

If it had not been for Deane, the Sapphic never would have been.

BANTA, KATHERINE, ΠΒΦ, Skull.....English.
Springdale, Ark.

"Of manners gentle, of affections mild;
In wit a woman, simplicity a child."

Katherine is an excellent student and has successfully filled more offices than any other member of the class.

CARNES, G. C., Periclean.....Economics.
DeWitt, Ark.

"A gentleman that loves to hear himself talk, and will speak more in a minute than he will stand to in a month."

President of the Dormitory Council.

BLACKMUN, ORA, Torch.....German.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Her heart and hand both open and both free;
For what she has she gives, what thinks, she shows."

She has made more E's than any other member of the class.

WOHRA, HAR DAS.....Electrical Engineering.
Piro Shah, Punjab, India.

"Unobtrusive and quiet, as shy as a maid
Is desired to be, and of girls much afraid."

He has won the name of eating degrees.

CARROLL, H. A. D., Periclean.....
.....Ancient Languages.
Valley Springs, Ark.

"There is nothing ill can dwell in such a temple;
If the ill spirit have so fair a house,
Good things will strive to dwell with it."

The boy that was lost in Carrol Cave.

DYER, C. L.....Agriculture.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"I am not merry; but I do beguile
The things I am by seeming otherwise."

He is a great lover of music.

DUNN, W. A., ΚΣ.....Mechanical Engineering.
Fort Smith, Ark.

"Oh wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursel's as others see us!
It wad frae monie a blunder free us.

President of A. S. M. E.

DUNN, H. W.....Electrical Engineering.
Fayetteville, Ark.

The paper dealer who has for his advertisement:

"If you want to get stung buy from me.
If you want to get stung worse buy elsewhere."

DAVENPORT, BESSIE, Sapphic.....Latin.
Hartford, Ark.

"Work, for the night is coming,
Work, in the glowing sun,
Work, while the dew is sparkling——"

And then work some more. Bess believes that rest comes only with old age.

CROOM, S. G., ΣΑΕ, ΘΝΕ...Romance Languages.
Dardanelle, Ark.

"Wiser in his own conceit than seven men that can render a reason."

His most famous toast is "Scholarship as an Asset to Fraternities."

CASEY, W. B., ΠΚΑ, Garland.....Economics.
Boxley, Ark.

"He bore a mind that envy could not but call fair."

Bert makes E's even in Economics to Prof. Carothers.

GRAHAM, J. J. ..... Electrical Engineering.
Springdale, Ark.

"Whither, midst falling dew
Dost thou pursue
Thy solitary way?"

"Jesse" is known to few, but his only fault so far as we can find is that he comes from Springdale.

GERIG, F. A., ΣN ..... Civil Engineering.
Arkadelphia, Ark.

"Thou would'st be loved? Then let thy heart
From its present pathway part not!"

Frank, known generally as "Goat," has never shocked us much by anything, except his absolute constancy in love.

BAKER, M. S., ΣN ..... Agriculture.
Little Rock, Ark.

"I tell thee, love is Nature's second sun, Causing a spring of virtues where he shines."

Mabin's personality has been so wrapped up in that of another that it has distinguished itself for little else in the U. of A.

BERRY, MARGARET, Torch ..... History.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Her sensibilities are so acute
The fear of being silent makes her mute."

Margaret sometimes talks, but it is in German or about it.

HON, MABEL, XΩ, Sapphic ..... Pedagogy.
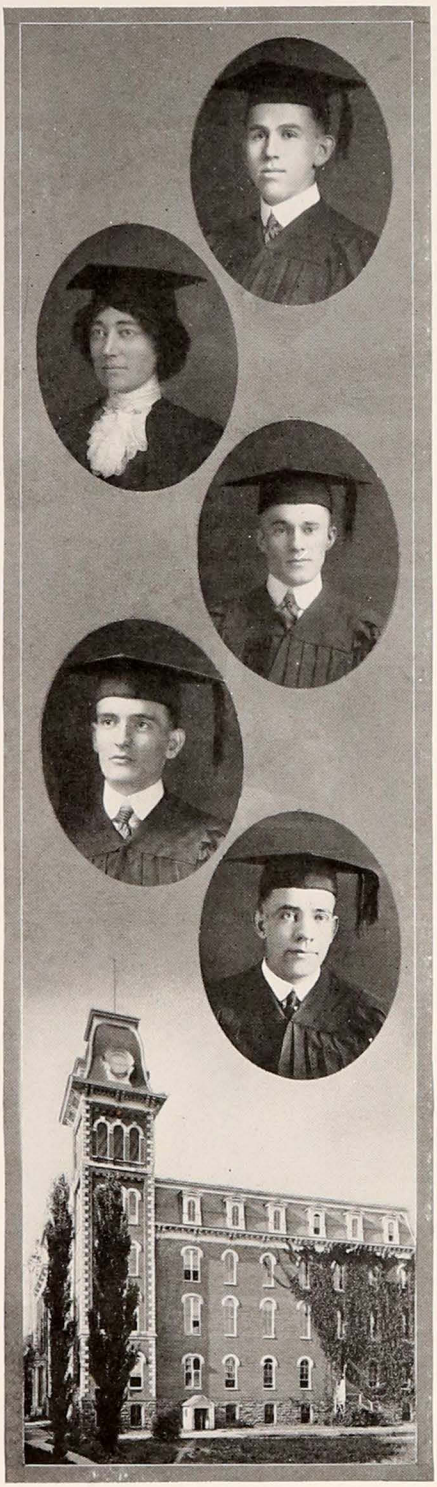
Fort Smith, Ark.

"And then she will talk, ye gods, how she will talk!"

"Mab" is not planning a career on the stage, but she has made a good beginning in Commencement plays.



HUNTLEY, B. W., ΣX, ΘNE.....
.....Civil Engineering.
Kirkland, Ark.

"When he acts piously, soberly, and temperately, he acts prudently and safely."

Bruce has won such a reputation on the football field that he needs none in anything else.

HOLLOBAUGH, ESSIE, Sapphic.....English.
Leslie, Ark.

"If you want knowledge you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it. Toil is the law."

If Essie ever fails to do anything it will not be through low aim or lack of diligence.

HOLT, M. L., KA.....Economics.
Harrison, Ark.

"His sparkling surface scarce betrays
A thoughtful tide beneath it rolled."

HOPPER, I. C., TKA, Torch, Garland.....History.
Caddo Gap, Ark.

"That which ordinary men are fit for, I am qualified in; and the best of me is diligence."

He is best known for his oratorical abilities and for the ease with which he learns.

HENRY, E. A., ΣΦE, Periclean, Skull.....
.....Economics.
Jacksonville, Ark.

"He faces the world unflinchingly."

"Gus" has done about everything in school from debating to making good grades and dancing the bear.

ENGLISH, E. H., KΣ.....Agriculture.
Little Rock, Ark.

"Can knowledge have no bound but must advance
So far to make us wise for ignorance."

If he succeeds as well in his profession as he has on the track, he will make a successful man.

ESTES, G. D., ΠΚΑ, Garland...Civil Engineering.
Alpena Pass, Ark.

"He slew our dragon, not, so seemed it, knew
He had done more than any simplest man might do."

"Good Old Dan" is the man who put Alpena Pass on the map. Known chiefly as a football star, he is also President of the Y. M. C. A., and has been an all-around man all through school.

DOWDLE, R. G., KΣ.....Civil Engineering.
Morrilton, Ark.

"He was a beautiful creature, depending on this beauty for much of his authority over his fellows."

The most beautiful man in the class was in this case, the leading man. "Garland" was the President of the Class of '14.

ERWIN, J. T., KΣ.....Economics.
Crossett, Ark.

"Happy am I; from care I'm free!
Why aren't they all contented like me?"

"Chili" is making a record on the baseball diamond.

FUNK, GLADYS, Sapphic, Torch.....German.
Rogers, Ark.

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might."

Faithful work in all school life and notably in Y. W. C. A. has characterized Gladys' college course.

KEITH, A. A.....Agriculture.
Van Buren, Ark.

"Every man has his faults and honesty is his."

By his quiet and unassuming ways, Allen has gained many friends and lost none.

HUMPHREYS, F. A., KΣ.....
.....Mechanical Engineering.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Too young for love?
Ah, say not so!
Too young? Too young?
Ah no! No! No!"

"Pats," like other men, his classmates, has been conspicuous for nothing until his Senior year—and then only for his meteor-like interest in a girl!

KENNEDY, W. E.....Electrical Engineering.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"He is never less at leisure than when at leisure."

The steam engine genius who made a reputation by keeping his mouth shut.

JORDAN, MARY.....English.
Newman, Ill.

"A foot more light, a step more true,
Ne'er from the heath-flower dash'd the dew!"

She has fallen in Love.

KELLER, FRED, TKA, Garland.....Economics.
Jonesboro, Ark.

"His words, like so many nimble and airy servitors, trip about him at command."

He has done everything from writing love lyrics to winning inter-collegiate debates.

LASER, LUCILE ..... Economics.
Clarksville, Ark.

"She was so charitable and so piteous
She would wepe, if that she was a mous."

As the "Widow of the Deceased" in the famous trial of the State vs. Dexter S. Bush, Lucile proved herself a worthy member of the Law Club.

LAKE, E. C., Garland, X-Ray ..... Economics.
De Queen, Ark.

"A man of sovereign parts he is esteemed;
Nothing becomes him ill that he would well."

Editor-in-Chief of the Cardinal in 1912-1913.

LAMBERTON, H. C., Garland .....
..... Electrical Engineering.
Harrison, Ark.

"He is of a very melancholy disposition."

The greatest thing that he has accomplished is his falling in love.

Stuttgart, Ark.

"He hath not fed of the dainties that are bred in a book; he hath not eat paper, as it were; he hath not drunk ink."

What "Mac" doesn't know about Agriculture nobody knows.

WINFREY, J. S., Garland ..... History.
Rudy, Ark.

"Yond Cyrus has a mild and gentle look,
He dreams too much."

But in spite of his dreaming, the Arkansan and the library couldn't exist without him.

MAGNESS, P. G.....Civil Engineering.
Magness, Ark.

"A comely old man as busy as a bee."

At times his mind seems to wander—to Springfield for instance.

MIXON, H. D., Garland.....Economics.
Atlanta, Ark.

"Wisdom he has, and to his wisdom courage;
Temper to that, and unto all success."

Harvey has distinguished himself in everything he has ever undertaken; he is now Business Manager of the Arkansan.

MOOREHEAD, LOUISE, ΔΔΔ, Arkansas Club.....
.....Pedagogy.
Hot Springs, Ark.

"Great feelings hath she of her own,
Which lesser souls may never know."

With the spirit to do anything that she thought right and prudent, Louise has met everything in college with fearlessness. She has made herself known as a good public speaker on several occasions.

MCGAUGH, CALLIE.....History.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Callie is one of our most studious and earnest Seniors—the girl historian prodigy.

MCCARTY, R. O., Garland.....Economics.
Yellville, Ark.

"Flattery is the food of fools;
Yet now and then your men of wit
Will condescend to take a bit."

"Mac" is one of those changeable persons that you can't tell anything about.

McGILL, S. S., Kohinur.....Electrical Engineering.
Chidister, Ark.

"Wit and wisdom are born with a man."

President of A. I. E. E.

McGILL, MINTO.....Mechanical Engineering.
Chidister, Ark.

"Man delights not me; no, nor woman neither."

Mr. Logan's pet.

METCALF, R. J.....Geology.
Horatio, Ark.

"Wise to resolve, and patient to perform."

Little Rock, Ark.

"We sometimes meet persons who in their very mien and aspect manifest such a signature and stamp of virtue as to make our judgment of them a matter of intuition."

Mildred has made one of the most brilliant records for scholarship in her class, and is Vice-President of the Class of '14.

PAYNE, E. E., ΣX, ΘNE.....Civil Engineering.
Forrest City, Ark.

"He that hath knowledge spareth his words."

We have heard his voice seldom, except in connection with Rita.

POTTER, G. C.....Civil Engineering.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"And what he greatly thought, he nobly dared."

A man from Kansas.

POTTER, WINNIE, Torch, Sapphic.....
.....Ancient Languages.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"The girl with that grave mathematical look (?)"

The Potters are known for their cheerfulness and mirth and Winnie ranks first.

POTTER, MABEL, Torch, Sapphic.....Economics.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Can knowledge have no bound, but must advance
So far to make us wish for ignorance?"

She was a Senior last year and liked it so well that she tried it again this year.

POTTER, H. N., Torch, Garland.....Economics.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Urge him with truth to frame his fair replies;
And sure he will, for wisdom never lies."

Member of the Torch Club.

POTTER, R. L.....Agriculture.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"To heal divisions, to relieve th' opprest;
In virtue rich; in blessing others, blest."

An Agri benedict.

SCURLOCK, E. H., Garland.....Economics.
Piggott, Ark.

"I have the spirit to do anything, that appears not foul in the truth of my spirit."

"Ed" has been business manager of almost everything in school—especially the Cardinal '13 and the Weekly.

ROYS, M. B.....Electrical Engineering.
Russellville, Ark.

"I've made it my practice to put all my worries down in the bottom of my heart, then set on the lid an' smile."

"Marco" has been this year a most enthusiastic and successful King of Rooters—one of the best we have ever had.

QUICK, W. C., Garland.....Agriculture.
Elm Springs, Ark.

"Recognizes ever and anon
The breeze of nature stirring in his soul."

President of the Agri Club.

SHELTON, WILMA.....English.
Terre Haute, Ind.

"What she wills to do or say
Is wisest, virtuousest, discreetest, best."

Her sweet disposition and high scholarship have won much admiration during her brief stay here.

RATLIFF, E. M., ΣΦΕ, ΘΝΕ.....
.....Civil Engineering.
Healing Spring, Ark.

"In the make and nature of every man, there are some powers for better things."

Who would have dreamed in "Rats'" early career here that he would be a lady-killer? But see what his Senior year has brought him to.

TITUS, I. R.....Civil Engineering.
Mena, Ark.

"Just a little larger than your fist,
Therefore so easy to be missed."

Ira has gained quite a reputation as a steeple-jack.

SHUFFIELD, N. E., Periclean.....Economics.
Nashville, Ark.

"He is the half part of a blessed man Left to be finished by such as she."

He has gained his reputation through his wife.

SCHOOLFIELD, EUNICE, Torch, Sapphic.....
.....Ancient Languages.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"Her air, her manners, all who see admire:
Courteous, though coy, and gentle, though retired."

Eunice cried because she didn't make E+ in Shakespeare. She is equally good in everything else, too.

STOUT, S. R., ΣΦΕ.....Agriculture.
Rogers, Ark.

Every little movement has a meaning all its own—watch his eyes.

"Roddy" is captain of the baseball team and one of the star players.

STEWART, L. G., ΚΣ.....Civil Engineering.
Little Rock, Ark.

"We have left undone those things we should have done, and done those things we should not have done."

The University has seen little of him—as a student!

WATERS, R. F., Skull, Lee ..... English.
Havana, Ark.

He is by no means a thief, yet he manages to get control of most of the money that comes to the boys' dormitory.

"By this face,
This seeming brow of justice, did he win
The hearts of all he did angle for."

VOLENTINE, PAUL ..... Electrical Engineering.
Clarleston, Ark.

"Mature in dullness from his tender years—
Yet still the wretch's master bears the blame."

Paul has made an enviable record in football and is noted for his pep.

TRENT, RUTH, ZTA ..... English.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"A maiden never bold;
Of a spirit so still and quiet that her motion
Blushed at herself."

Ruth has distinguished herself only for modesty and unobtrusiveness.

THORNTON, R. E. ..... Mechanical Engineering.
Hot Springs, Ark.

"A merrier man
Within the limit of becoming mirth
I never spent an hour's talk withal."

He is not in Arizona—but his heart is.

TYSON, H. J., Garland ..... Agriculture.
Camden, Ark.

"He can look into the seeds of plants
And say which grain will grow and which will not."

Harvey is a farmer and it takes but a short time for anybody to find it out.

TUCKER, M. C. ..... Agriculture.
Fayetteville, Ark.

"His corn and cattle are his only care,
And his supreme delight a country fair."

He couldn't pass Ec. V because of too many domestic duties.

COLLINS, A. J. ..... Electrical Engineering.
Foreman, Ark.

"Talk to him of Jacob's ladder and he would ask the number of steps."

"Carnegie" never gets into trouble himself, but he always engineers it.

Fayetteville, Ark.

"His looks, his air, his curt speech told
The man of action, not of books."

He is an ardent student of Psychology, but is famous chiefly for his ability as a chauffeur.

Quo Vadis?

CLASS 1914

For four long years we've walked the press together
And trod the harvest out to flood the sluices,
Together toiled in fair and frowning weather,
And set our vats to catch the purple juices.
The work is ended and today we meet
To part, in spirit, something less than gay.
We pass the gate with hesitating feet
And whither—whither shall we then away?
The paths are many and the ways unknown,
The old familiar guides must stay behind.
'Tis now, dear comrades, each must choose alone
The road he'll follow for his fortune's find.
Now some will take the road that leads afar
Amid the shadows and the growing grain,
Where Nature lavish in her low-built car
Will bear them satiate down the winding plain.
And some will choose to climb the lofty mountains,
To breathe the purer air above the mist,
To drink the water from the snow-fed fountains,
And there to sleep by kindly angels kissed.
But as for me I fear the mists and chills
Adown the valley. I should lose my way
Among the lofty peaks. The little hills
And fresh sweet fields, my timid feet shall stay.
And I shall have me there a cottage bright,
With honeysuckle twining 'round the door.
And love shall season all my life and light,
And love shall furnish all my earthly store.
If one of you shall fall among the thieves,
Remember I for you keep wine and oil;
When you are tired and cruel fate bereaves
You, come to me and rest you from your toil.

—F. L. Boyd.

The Students Prologue

Here Floweth the Prologe of the Student's Tale of Purgatorie.

At my beginning now I yow biseche
Have me excused of my rude speche;
For thogh I lerned many bookes certeyn,
What I yow telle shall be bare and pleyn—
But, goddes, bi-cause I am a hurel man,
I preye that yow wol shilde me for yow can
Right well my doom; there is non that is here
Of eloquence that shal be thy pere—
I shal yow telle of a campanye
Of students pore, eek ever sad and trewe,
Which I shal holde alway in memorie
Bi-cause they dwelt four yere in purgatorie.
Now, lerned man, hold wel thy speche I preye,
Til I am thrugh; there is na-more to seye.

THE STUDENT'S TALE.

Here beginneth the Tale of Purgatorie.

What shal I sayn? my wit is al ago,
The words I speke, ther nis no might therto,
But I shal nat compleyne or make moon,
For sone shal my joye and alle be goon;
Maugree my heed, I shal sayn bitterly,
I shal not wyten clerkes sinfully.
This campanye of whiche I now you telle,
Y-spended four longe yeer in drede and helle;
As for the more part, I say nat alle,
For god shilde that hit sholde so befalle.
'Ay, craft is al, who-so that do it can.'

In Purgatorie dwelt a burel man
That highte was som name I dare nat saye;
He was so rude that whan he gan to preye,
Hem thoughte only of two grete German men,
Whose early deeth was noght to him but sin,
Sin that heigh god hadde hem y-tak away

To lyve in parfit joye eek night and day.
Myn English here is insufficient
To peyente him a techer excellent,
Accordant to his wordes was his chere,
As techeth German layes hem that it lere.
I can nat in my lewednesse comprehende
Wher that I telle of the badder ende,
But if ther be a goode ende, god it showe,
That to myn lyves ende I shall it knowe.

This techer dwelt som tyme in Germany
Among faire clerkes, eek of heigh degree,
And thogh he was tendre and younge of age,
He spak with joye hir heighte language.
'English', he seyde, 'whiche that I spak bifore,
It nedeth nat to yow reherce it more,
For I wot lyve alway in Germany,
And trewely na-more in my countree,'
Me thinketh that he were a wonder ass
If that he hadde four feet and ete gras,
But sin that he only on hinde feet goon,
I lete hem passe, and clerkes many oon.

God wot that sorwe and paine is sone ago,
And wot the latter ende of joye is wo,
But eek the ende of wo is swete solas
As demeth me is true in this cas;
And when this longe four yeer was al y-goon,
This companye gan leve everichoon;
They hadde y-doon hir sorweful sacrifise,
And wente for to dwelle in Paradise.
Ther nis no sorwe now, no paine allas!
But ever joye and blisse, eek swete solas,
Sin that this companye was y-gone,
To dwelle in Paradise everichon,
Hem thoughte na-more on sorweful Purgatorie;
Now ther nas noght but greet felicitee,
Which never was, but ever-mo shal be.

Nat longe tyme after this pilgrimage
This companye bothe young and olde of age,
Alle sawe wel som thing ther was amis.

'What', Seint Peter, 'what maner world is this?'
Quod oon, 'is alle might and minde agoon,
And is hevene allas, as colde as stoon?'
'Sir!' quod Peter, 'ye woot what is to done,
And it wol bettre been if righte sone.'
Thanne thoughte they, it was the beste reed,
Sin that nat oon of hem hadde be deed,
To wende another tyme to Purgatorie,
Which al y-faded hadde from mermorie.
O brotil joye! what sorwe here to telle,
This companye sholde wenden bak to helle.
They can nat don Peters comandements,
But som-tyme they ben goddess instruments.
Then faren they abouten the viage,
Which was, in short, a longe pilgrimage.

Clerkes, I coude you telle muchel more
Which happed er they left that blisful shore,
Swiche peynes that your hertes mighte agryse,
But wot I wel no tongue can hit devyse,
Thogh that I sholde a thousand winter telle
The peyne of thilke cursed hous of helle!
They woot right wel that of necessitee,
Ther nis na-more swete humanitee,
But sorwe and eek ever-mo hardnesse
To-geder with the peynes of hevinesse
They dorste nat lenger lyve in Purgatorie,
Sin that they tak keep, in hir memorie,
Of thilke cursed man that longe y-goon
Hadde made hem alle to suffre, everichoon.
This leoun sat in his waiste alway
To slee the students alle, if that he may;
But they na-more to his dore wente,
For they unto this place, the world, stinte
To spende hir lyves here as best they may,
Singing and dancing eek by night and day.
I preye that thise students hem repente
Of alle hir sinnes, er that the feend hem hente,
And, by my fey, so make us all good men,
And bringe us alle to greteste blisse. Amen.

Here endeth the Student's Tale.

Sophomores

CLASS OFFICERS.

J. A. Winn	President.
Agnes Greig	Vice-President.
Katherine Lide	Secretary.
Lois Watson	Treasurer.
George Owens, Irene Taylor	Cardinal Representatives.

Class Roll

ALCORN, MAURICE L. (Al-corn, no cobb)
A promising young gentleman, with exceedingly large feet, who has the ambition of U. S. Senator.

ARNOLD, CARRIE
Divinely tall, and most divinely fair. Carrie is indeed a lovely dancer.

ARNOLD, B. C.
Talks much and says little.

AMIS, M. W. (Hypo Harry)
"Empty casks make the most noise."

ALLEN, G. L. (Freshman)
"When I think of the happy days I spent with you, my dearie,
And now what lands between us lie, how can I be but eerie?"

BARROW, MARGARET
She would make a good trade-mark for Old Dutch Cleanser.

BROWN, ROBERT W.
If little labor, little are our gains,
Man's fortunes are according to his pains.

BEALE, MADGE
The muses blushed to see their friends exalting
Those grape-vine tango dances never halting.

BRANSFORD, W. S.
He looks as if he had been rubbed down with sand-paper. Good looks buy nothing on the market.

BUFORD, A. W.
Afflicted with many relatives.
"A man's a man for a' that."

BURNEY, JIM
No mere man has ever yet vanquished her.

CARL, F. C.
"Fine feathers make fine fowls."

CARROLL, J. C.
Peculiar but perfectly harmless.

CAROLAN, CLEM
Has the strength of a Hercules.

CHILDRESS, PAUL (Chilley)
Past all shame, so past all truth.

COCHRAN, SIDNEY
Thy head may be likened to a robin's breast.

CURNUTT, H. A.
The truly generous is the truly wise
And he who loves not others lives unblest.

CORDELL, THYRA
But still her tongue ran on, the less
Of weight it bore, with greater ease,
And with its everlasting clack
Sets all men's ears upon the rack.

COVENTON, BESSIE
'Tis so much in your nature to do good that your life is but one continued act of placing benefits on many.

COVINGTON, MAXIE
A modest blush she wears, not formed by art;
Free from deceit her face and full as free her heart.

He has done nothing (yet) to tell about.

COKER, M. B.
A co(r)ker who never fails to show embarrassment by placing his hands in his trousers pockets.

DUNN, HENRY ("Speedy", "The Mediator")
Music washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life.

DECKER, K. K.
Would be perfectly happy to play basketball the rest of her life.

DUBBS, FORD
The power of his motorcycle determines his speed.

ELLINGTON, M. F.
He is said to have the dark ambition of a villian.

ELD, ELLEN
Can always be heard singing:
"No, I shall never marry,
No man shall call me wife."

FRAZIER, E. H.
A man of the hour—a football hero. Frazier "starred" for us in '13, and experienced a very unfortunate accident in having his ankle broken.

FORREST, GRACE

All paints may be said to be noxious. They injure the skin, obstruct perspiration, and thus frequently lay the foundation for cutaneous affections.

Model School kid: "Miss Forrest's head looks just like er brush heap."

FLETCHER E. P. (Fletch)

Men of genius are often dull and inert in society, as a blazing meteor when it descends to earth is only a stone.

GREENFIELD, JOE ("Greeny" Saloame)

"A great many pair of shoes are worn out before a man does all he says."

GARNER, F. C.

First Student: "How near were you to the answer in the fifth question?"

Garner: "Two chairs away, only."

GREAVES, CLIFTON D. ("Jew")

We find in sullen writs,
And cross-grained works of modern wits,
The wonder of the ignorant.

GEREN, J. M. (Jerry)

Be a fool, the rest will follow.

GOODWIN, IDAHUGH

When I've done my best, I can do no more.

GREIG, AGNES

Because I would live quietly in the world, I hear and see and say nothing.

GREEN, E. G.

A breath of spring.

HILTON, ESTHER CHILDS

Her longing to master domestic science has not yet been explained.

HARVILLE, W. E. ("Tuffey" Pummie)

"Blessings on thee, little man."

HENDERSON, C. A. ("Tubby")

A goodly portly man, i' faith, and a corpulent.

HOLMES, O. G.

(Waking up in English lecture): "Oh gee! Yes, Dr. Shannon, my initials are O. G."

HORTON, W. J.

"Good morning! Uh! Uh!" Possesses a jovial face and is detsined to become a literary genius.

HURST, FLOY

Du, du, liegst mir im herzen! A German fiend.

HARVEY, ROBIN ("Rob")

She is the fortunate possessor of seven hats—one for each day of the week.

HARRIS, HADLEY

She dwelt among untrodden ways,
Far from the haunts of man.

HENRY, J. D. (Somebody's King)

Have you seen my lovin' Hen-ery Man?

HAZARD, M. G.

"When it shall please God, to bring thee to man's estate, use great providence and circumspection in choosing thy wife."

HEDRICK, G. E.

Truly, he draws very well, but it is exceedingly fortunate for himself (others) that he does not take his models from a glass.

HORTON, H. R.

His words are bonds, his oaths are oracles.

HIGGS, M. P. ("Mutt")

Don't flirt with the girls (when you have the mumps). The girls say he is a "typical ladies' man."

JELKS, CLARENCE

"Experience keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other."

KIMBROUGH, ETHEL

He(s) can(ned) who thinks he can.

LEE, L. S.

It is sad to love and be unloved,
But sadder still to be unable to love.

LIDE, KATHERINE ("Never")

"A close mouth catches no flies."

LANO, MILDRED

Gets homesick every time she sees a snowflake.

LIGHTON, DOROTHY

Dorothy's stories about her rich aunt make Baron Munchausen look like a Freshman before the "Traveling Committee."

LEE, W. D.

"No, I'm not goin' to church today."
SHE hasn't been there in three Sundays.

MCCOY, AILEEN

Said to be a wolf in sheep's clothing.

MIDDLEBROOKS, IDA

The price of wisdom is far above rubies.

MOORE, EMILY

Virtue is a diamond that scratches every stone.

MATTHEWS, B. B.

The very substance of the ambitious is merely the shadow of a dream.

MCCONNELL, W. W. (Mack)

Men of few words are the best men.

MURREY, J. H. (The football star—"Hoffnagel")

Handsome apples are sometimes sour.

MATHER, JULIET

"Ah were she pitiful as she is fair,
Or mild as she is seeming so."

MIDDLEBROOKS, EDNA

"Feed me on lemons, I am sick of love."

MCDONALD, LOUISE

You're a great big blue-eyed baby,
(You're the sweetest girl I know).

MOORE, LUCILE

There was a young lady named Lucile,
Who was so exceedingly thin
That when she assayed to drink lemonade,
She slipped through the straw and fell in.
Her slenderness is exceeded by her mental brilliance.

MCBRIDE, J. E. ("The Trig Shark")

Student: "Lieut. Wiley, can you tell me where McBride is?"
Lieut. Wiley: "You can always find him in Prof. Droke's Trig Class when not found in the corridors."

MOORE, V. H.

I love you. Words are small;
'Tis life speaks plain; in twenty years
Perhaps you may know all.

MCBRIDE, BERTA

Come try your luck in the golden west (Texas),
Where men do the work and women rest.

NUNN, HENRY

The heights by great men reached and kept,
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they while their companions slept
Were toiling upward in the night.

O'Neal, Lloyd

Is the general practitioner for lights and all electrical contrivances of the "U."

Oliver, Grace

Of course I expect to get married some day.

Ott, Gail Russell

A pink of propriety.

Owen, George W. (Pinkie, Chauncey)

"It's the songs you sing and the smiles you wear
That makes the sunshine everywhere."

George is a lion among the ladies and an indispensable member of the Sophomore Class. "Let George do it."

Oster, Mabel

A farmer's life, a farmer's life, a farmer's life for me;
If I could be a farmer's wife, how happy I could be.

Philpot, Lillian ("Philly")

"Don't you know when I was a baby, I was the cutest little thing, an' I'd just lie in my mother's arms and breathe and breathe and breathe."

Payne, Weston (Buck)

He hath an excellent good name.

Penix, F. L. (Little Penix)

He is truly happy who can make others happy too.

Robinson, Lillian

Her voice was ever low and sweet,—
An excellent thing in woman.

Rogers, Eunice

"Well, yes, I really do like the boys."
Her hair is rival to the setting sun.

Rawlings, A. J. (Doc)

A shark in the L. I. Department who will no doubt eventually succeed Dr. Jewell.

Rawlings, T. P. (Runt)

The "baby" of the C. E. Department and a lover of Math.

Richardson, Byron

"Hail, blithe newcomer! I have heard,
I hear thee and rejoice."

Byron is a genius who has never been appreciated.

ROSENCRANTZ, F. C.

Agri.—nuff sed.

RICE, PHILLIP

A good heart never changes, but keeps his course truly.

RIDDLING, LITTLE ("Ye-Gods")

He is naturally very, very handsome, but his pictures never do him justice.

ROGERS, CLEMENTINE

Oh my darling! Oh my darling! Oh my darling Clementine!

SMITH, HATTYE ("Somebody's queen")

Fair and fair, and thrice as fair,
As fair as any may be.

SCOTT, STERLING (Scottie)

If these and such like you women can bear,
Then like and love and never fear.

SMEAD, HAMILTON (Piker, Hamp, Hungry, Sold Out)

A diamond in the rough. By the tender hand of a girl he may some day be wrought into beauty's own perfection.

SMITH, H. A.

A perfectly divine dancer, who juggles molecules and other mixtures for Dr. Carroll.

SHELL, BENNIE

Prof. Carother's pet. She loves her teacher and her school.

SADDLER, W. P. (Bill)

A light heart lives long.
"He hath a heart as sound as a bell
And his tongue is the clapper;
For what his heart thinks
His tongue speaks."

STEWART, C. J.

The Dormitory photographer, who carries a trig under one arm and a kodak under the other.

SMITH, O. D.

Is particularly fond of red roses grown on Leverett street.

THOMAS, ALVIN

(Fragments of conversation in "Chicken Roost.")
"Alvin is just the sweetest thing.
I always have just loved Alvin."

TAYLOR, IRENE

She needs no eulogy. She speaks for herself.

TAYLOR, VENA

Your own goodness will be your faithful guard.

TIPTON, GOODWIN ("Goodie")

Oh, she's charming and she's handsome.
She is good and true and kind.

VAUGHAN, EDWARD

"If he's gone, let him go. God bless him."

WHITE, EDDIE

Silence is gold.

WINN, J. A. ("Senator")

Our distinguished President and Class Debater.
All Sophs swear by Winn.

WATSON, LOIS

The only way to have a friend is to be one.

WYCHE, PAT (Esther)

I have no name, I am but two days old.
Here's to the woman with a heart like a trolley car—always room for one more.

WILSON, R. G.

I call it. What yuh got? Full on kings.

WILSON, D. D. ("Gube")

I take it to be a principle of life not to be edicted too much to any one thing.

WOODFIN, EUGENE (Sikes)

"Mother's wag, pretty boy, Father's sorrow, father's joy."

WILKES, J. C. (The Happy Hooligan)

Good courage breaks ill-luck to pieces.

WEISIGER, JOE

One of the young ladies of the Dormitory is anxious for his health, and wonders when he sleeps.

WELLS, G. C.

He bears an amiable face and lots of grin. Thanks to the pleasant man for helping us out of the "dumps."

WHITE, TELL

Indeed, a Math. Shark. He never realizes (or recognizes) his as the losing side of an argument. Possibly this to some extent accounts for him being an uninitiated Soph of Gray Hall.

WALKUP, R. M.

Has decided to learn to play cards.

WILLIAMS, W. D.

"Nature made him what he was,
And never made anither."

IN MEMORIAM

DALTON KELLY

DIED JANUARY 15TH, 1914

In Memory of Dalton R. Kelly

How poor indeed, our strength! How short our arm!
The enemy that man shall conquer last
Came in the night of our dense ignorance
And took his tribute from our own dear midst.
Our fearful prayers reached not the source of good.
Into the mists our friend has passed from sight.
Woe! Woe! What is our comfort now?
Hope! that in the light of days to come
Our children fearless, shall stand up and say,
"Divine love did not will it so, and we
Refuse to pay the tribute: we refuse
To bow our heads to shadows less than gods
Of wood or stone!" The bud shall make a rose,
The fruit shall ripen on the tree. The child
Shall glad his mother's heart a hundred years.

F. L. B., '14.

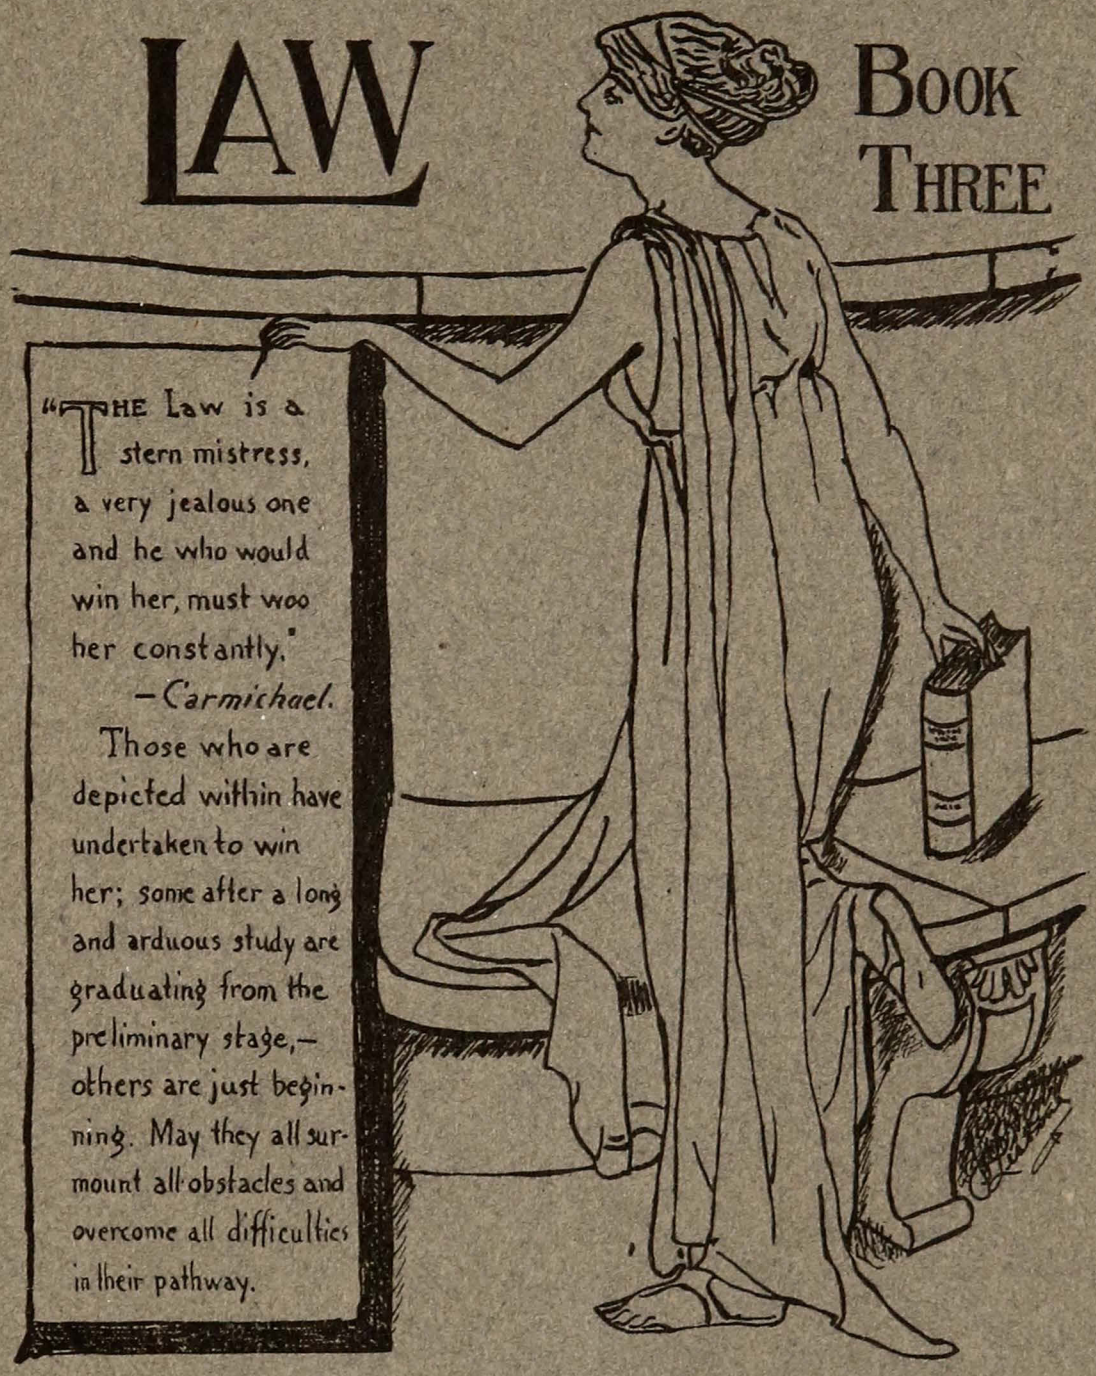
LAW

BOOK THREE



"THE Law is a stern mistress, a very jealous one and he who would win her, must woo her constantly."

—Carmichael.

Those who are depicted within have undertaken to win her; some after a long and arduous study are graduating from the preliminary stage,—others are just beginning. May they all surmount all obstacles and overcome all difficulties in their pathway.

IT has been said that in order to be a great lawyer, one must possess the following requisites: Statement, method, imagery, selection, tenacity of memory, power of dealing with facts, rapid generalization, humor and pathos.

The subject of this sketch, not only possesses these qualities, but has a wide reputation as a ripe scholar, a profound lawyer, a faithful servant of his clients, and above all a gentleman.

Words, therefore, being inadequate to express our gratitude and high appreciation for the many memorable examples and intellectual efforts that he has bestowed upon us, we, the staff of Nineteen Fourteen, respectfully dedicate this book to our worthy and esteemed pilot of Real Property,

THE HONORABLE W. B. BROOKS.

Seniors

PETE LESSING. Little Rock, Ark.

German descent—"blew" from Chicago. Aspires to be Justice of the Peace of Big Rock Township. Has a favorite expression when referring to "Real Property" that would not look well in print. Far from being narrow, and he has our best wases for success in his chosen profession.

H. E. MEEK. Phi Alpha Delta. Camden, Ark.

"Meek" is right. Mum is the word with Meek. From a "dry territory," and as dry as his name would suggest. He has proven himself a favorite. At present familiarizing himself with the workings of the Supreme Court, preparatory to his ascendency to one of the seats of this august tribunal.

T. J. MOHER. Little Rock, Ark.

Offspring of Argenta. Claiming Little Rock as his domicile. Has a wonderful ability for speaking in public, if properly cultivated. If you are looking for a lawyer we refer you to the above—T. J. MOHER.

BEN F. ALLEN. Heber Springs, Ark.

Graduate of the U. of A. in '12. Has a remunerative position at local Y. M. C. A. Takes all matters seriously, especially himself, and would make equally as good a "PREACHER" as he has proven himself a lawyer. Will engage in practice at Heber Springs, Ark., and he has the grit and ambition to make a success.

M. P. HATCHETT. Phi Alpha Delta. Clinton, Ark.

Hails from a point not on the map. Graduate of the U. of A. in '11. Has gained quite a distinction as being a "MOOT COURT" lawyer, and has proven his ability on a number of occasions. A promising young lawyer. He has ambition and intellect and will grasp success. Senior Class orator.

A. B. CYPERT. Little Rock, Ark.

"Cy" graduated from the U. of A. in '12. Attended Harvard in '12-'13. Arkansas STAR—"All round" athlete. Makes a favorable impression on the ladies. Has wonderful resources. Arkansas feels proud in sending this young man into the world, as she well knows with his qualities he is bound to do her credit. Founder of the Blackstone Debating Society.

C. R. STARBIRD. Little Rock, Ark.

Right you are "ALL NIGHT LONG." This boy is a Star, also a BIRD, and much devoted to his Father when Moot Court is in session, and is another STAR when it comes to making excuses. He is young and has a promising future.

J. A. RUTHERFORD. Wagoner, Okla.

Talk about your human interrogation points: "Still he talked and still the wonder grew, that one small head could carry all he knew." Leland-Stanford '11, U. of O. '12-'13, and here he is seeking knowledge in "Old Arkansas." "It's this way in Oklahoma." Some future lawyer, BOYS.

KARL GREENHAW. Phi Alpha Delta. Little Rock, Ark.

Spell it as you wish, but it's "Carl" when you say it. Gained fame as an orator. Associate Editor of Law Cardinal. Goar Lyceum orator. President Blackstone Debating Society. Now Chief Clerk for the corporation of which he will eventually be Chief Advisor—the Southwestern Bell Telephone System.

GUY F. WILLIAMS. Delta Theta Phi. Little Rock, Ark.

Guy is married, but happy. His wife, with whom he has resided for several years now, gave him permission to study law in connection with earning a livelihood as manager of the Darragh Company. He is an active member of the Moot Court. Became famous as an expert witness. A deserving man with wonderful ability. We wish you well, Guy, where you may be.

W. V. EVANS. Benton, Ark.

Commonly known as "Punk." Attended the U. of A. three years. Washington-Lee '12-'13. Deputy Circuit Clerk of Saline County. Will practice among friends of his boyhood days, and should he venture out into the world we are sure that success will attend him, be he where he may. He has a history that would make Washington, Lincoln, and others of the old school look out of place. A member of the S. N. fraternity.

D. F. MCELHANNON. Antoine, Ark.

A descendant of Ireland. Possesses an active mind, a cool head, and a wonderful delivery. Whoever heard of the Irish failing? Future-great man.

F. E. WILSON. Williford, Ark.

BEHOLD: A gentleman from Williford, a place not on the map. What is his legal status? F. E. is an able debater. Prosecuting attorney in Moot Court. Convicts both innocent and guilty. A second Jerome Travers. He will make good wherever it may be.

B. S. MORROW, JR. Clarksville, Ark.

He'll win if you'll give him time. His acquaintances are hard to make and just as hard to forget. Is quiet and unassuming. Aspires to be Governor some day.

JOHN ROSE. Delta Theta Phi. Little Rock, Ark.

The name of "Rose" is written upon the memories of the lawyers of the world, and John promises to be one of the big men, as his ancestors before him. A man of VALOR, CHARACTER, and WORTH.

G. T. OVERTON. Little Rock, Ark.

Red-headed, small in stature, and with a memory like Webster. Overton is a good fellow, and, like the girls with hare lips, his heart is in the right place, and the ladies all love him. Will be the legal advisor of the "Cotton Oil Trust."

E. M. Ross. Grapevine, Ark.

He hails from the home of William J. Bryan's favorite drink. Has held several honorary posts during his short stay, and was at one time a candidate for "Sergeant of Arms" of the Moot Court. He'll win. Vice-President of the Senior class. A typical son of the Sunny South, pleasant and affable, chivalrous and loyal.

Jim Shoffner. Little Rock, Ark.

"Jimmy" has that habit of showing up 30 minutes late and leaving 30 minutes before close of class. Outside business takes up a great deal of his time. Told us he was from Little Rock, but investigation shows he walked here from Cabot. In spite of all this, his fellow students have found him to be a good fellow and with a bright future.

J. C. Huie. Choctaw, Ark.

When Huie left Choctaw he little tho't that "Fools" rush in where angels fear to tread, and thereby hangs the tale of his entrance to Arkansas Law School. But no less for its suddenness he leaves us with kindly impressions and remembrances of his quiet, faithful, and ever-willing labors. Friend, we wish you well.

Peyton Jordan. Delta Theta Phi. Little Rock, Ark.

A native of "Dreamland." A picture of beauty, the wisdom of Solomon, and the dress of an actor. Face powder and feminine ways were unknown to us until "Peeten" made his appearance. Ladies, he is not responsible, and must not be blamed for the magic of his eyes. He is to be commended for his record and for his universal popularity. He intends to live.

VOL. T. LINDSEY. Delta Theta Phi. Bentonville, Ark.

Here's "Vollie," commonly known as "Bear Cat." He hails from the land of the big red apple, and is an active debater on the subject when attacked. President of the Senior class and Senior class prophet. Will hang out his shingle in Bentonville as the firm of Lindsey & Lindsey. A man of his ability should succeed in his chosen profession.

J. I. TRAWICK. Delta Theta Phi. Little Rock, Ark.

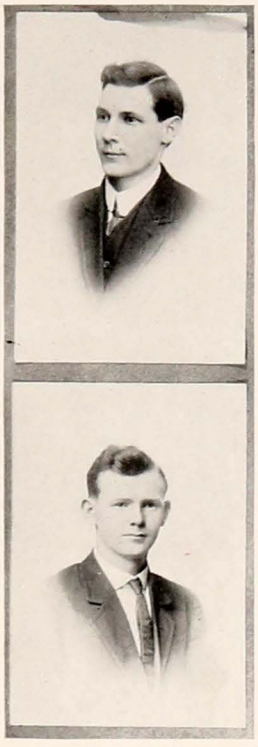
This handsome brunette is one of the most treasured possessions of the Moot Court. He is remarkable for his strong and confident voice, fitted for the persuasion of classmates, quiz-masters, and others. His collar, tie, shirt bosom, and socks are always a perfect harmony. "Tra" has made himself famous as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney in Moot Court. He is reasonably sure he has the goods, and has brought us to the same conviction. We need not prophesy great things of him; that's a foregone conclusion.

ELMER CARLSON. Argenta, Ark.

Here's a man that hails from just over the river. If you're ever out late, BOYS, just drop in with Elmer. He's a man that's never heard and seldom seen. He knows the law, but won't admit it. A man of his character and ability is bound to succeed.

T. N. NALL. Sheridan, Ark.

Here's Mr. "Nal," as the Judge calls him. The coming lawyer of the famous Sheridan. Attended the U. of A. three years. Chief editor of the Cardinal staff. President of Goar Lyceum and clerk of Moot Court. Nall is a married man, but he can't help it. Surely, with all his qualities, he will meet with a great success.



W. M. CHANDLER. Seattle, Wash.

Behold: A man from the wild and woolly west, and has never been curried below the knees. His ambition—to discuss the constitutionality of the "Going Act." A good student, and with many friends. We wish him well.

O. E. ELLIS. Salem, Ark.

Ellis, better known as "Red," hails from Salem, Fulton County. He is a deep thinker and a convincing speaker. He says what he means and means what he says. At present running for Representative of Fulton County, and if elected will be one of the leaders during the 1915 session.

Prophecy

"By Gosh! Vol, I've got it!"

"Got what, Pete, you old Dutchman, you are always saying something nobody knows anything about."

"Got that machine I've been working at since the night Dean Carmichael said I'd never make a lawyer."

"Well, tell me what it is," I said, for I had noticed Pete had fallen into the habit at class of sitting humped over, his black eyes completely overshadowed by his blacker eyebrows, and had positively refused on several occasions to venture any kind of an answer to his questions.

"It's an invention by means of which I can make myself immensely rich. It is simply this, it is a radio, electric dynamo which utilizes a force hitherto undiscovered. When this machine is put in action, it records accurately the future of any person who may be focused in its delicate mechanism."

"But how are you planning to get rich out of that?" I asked, hoping thereby to lead him further in order to gather data to present before an insanity commission.

"Just let these poor simps who are studying law hear about it, and the last fool of them will pledge half their fees for twenty years to stand before it."

Then reaching down in his pocket, he pulled out an instrument somewhat larger than the Ingersol watch he was carrying, and handed it to me. Just to see if there was anything to it, I focused it on Pete, and here was what I saw:

"Pete Lessing: Born a German, attended lectures in law, precedent smashing Justice of the Peace; Motto: 'Everybody guilty until proved innocent.'"

This brief summary of his career at once inspired my confidence in the instrument, then an idea struck me. I had been assigned the task of writing a prophecy of the class of 1914 for the Cardinal, and after telling Pete I saw through his Futurescope that he would gain fabulous wealth and die a multimillionaire, I prevailed upon him to let me use his invention to gather material for the Prophecy.

When the possibilities of the instrument became noised among the students each could scarcely wait for his turn to be examined. I took them one by one, with the agreement that the record should never be published. And I fain would not do so, but for the urgent request of the public press. So here they are, in order of their appearance.

"Overton—Banker, deacon in the church, immense fortune devoted to promoting conjugal felicity, became standard bearer of the Woman's Suffrage movement."

"Jordan—Born handsome—ran for Justice of the Peace; hobby, chewing tobacco. Now, news butch between Little Rock and Hot Springs."

"Williams—Has strong lungs, hands out what the butcher sells, success as financier."

"Greenhaw—Native of Arkansas and has never been out of the State—Promising future. Noted for superfluous adjectives, made criminal lawyer, died from the effects of chewing gum."

"Trawick—Blew in from 'Ole Miss.,' great lover of the Merchant's Bureau; life devoted to fighting corporations."

"Evans—Born in Benton; blindfolded and put on train and sent to Little Rock in care of Dean Carmichael, made civil lawyer and settled down at De Queen, Arkansas."

"James Shoffner—Got one case, never could learn how to begin it, gave up the practice, married and attempted to raise 'Kids' for a living, but someone got his goat and he finally decided to replace his 'Trust' in the 'Mercantile.'"

"Martin—A natural product of the City of Roses, has high aspirations, 'Ignorantia legis neminem excusat.'"

"Rose and Cypert—Famous Lawyers and Notary Publics, side line, shorthand, typewriting and baseball correspondence; office, Little Rock, Arkansas."

"McElhannon and Chandler—Noted Firm, also sells eggs and butter, auctioneering a specialty."

"Huie—Made famous by his speech in the Senate, holding up the honesty and integrity of 'Country Greenhorns'; standard bearer of his community.

"Meek, Moore and Wilson—General Counselors, Politicians and Speculators, have practiced in the Justice Court twenty years and neither has had a case in the Circuit Court; they wonder why."

"Rider, Carlson and Yarnell—Big Firm Boodlers, five years on the County Farm, license revoked."

"Nall and Ross—Practicing law and teaching school; for further information write the Charity Society of Sheridan, Arkansas."

"Rutherford—Famous teacher of common law, will go down to his grave with the pet theory of trying to abolish all statutory law."

"Morrow, Starbird and O'Donald, law firm; motto, You can take the boys out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the boys."

"Ellis—The Fulton County Statesman, attended lectures in law, ran for Representative, Postmaster and Mayor of Salem."

"Allen—Drifted away from the influence of his mother; attended lectures in law in U. of A. Law School; preaching now. His motto, 'No smutty yarns for me.'"

"Hatchett—No record."

I handed the invention to Pete, the inventor, and asked what was wrong. Pete squinted his practiced eye through its mysterious contrivance, then with a disconsonant frown, he piped out in his puling voice: "By Gosh! He's broken my machine."

History of Junior Class

History is a narrative of events of the past, showing some degree of development. Man and the nation have a history. The babe and the tribe have only the baldest annals. Still, babes grow into men, tribes become nations, and annals are born anew into history, so the Class of 1915, being yet a babe, has an uneventful past, an active present, and an expectant future. Its history, therefore, is neither full nor over-exciting.

The class numbered sixty-five, and comprised the usual variation of height and build, of form and figure, of disposition and capacity. Our color, however, was uniform, being a very decided "green."

Early in the year the organization of the Goar Lyceum, which is composed of members of the Junior and Senior Classes, was contemplated. A controversy arising as to the weekly meeting night, the Seniors desiring Thursday night, and it being understood that their desire was acquiesced in by the Dean, we could see that a battle was before us if we wished to secure Wednesday night. Sending forth a call for volunteers, we prepared for the battle, and by the very able efforts of Poe, Harris, Shepherd and others, successfully won out. The Dean graciously admitted our victory, the Seniors also declaring the day was ours. Incidently it may be remarked that it meant rejoicing for us, and we were justly proud of our fellow-members who so nobly championed our cause. After the battle came peace, and the election of our worthy classmate, Shofner, as the first president of the Goar Lyceum, and throughout the year our power was shown by the fact that the majority of the officers elected monthly were members of the Junior Class.

The debates of the Goar Lyceum were hugely enjoyed by us, many exciting discussions being had, made interesting not only by the marked ability of many of our members as orators, but also by the presence of Dean Carmichael, who often gave us the pleasure of his company, and the benefit of his instructive, humorous talks.

In November Moot Court was formed, and we had the opportunity of assisting in the trial of cases.

Owing to lack of time and the large membership of the Goar Lyceum, it was found impossible to give all members an opportunity to exercise their literary abilities, so shortly after the holidays we formed a new literary society, naming the same after the Eminent Writer of Law, "Blackstone," and appointing Monday the weekly meeting night.

We take pleasure in recording, as part of our history, the fact that two of our classmates, Shofner of Pulaski County, and Crane of Miller County, will represent their respective Counties in the next Legislature. We predict a successful political career for them, and are sure their presence will add much to the brilliancy and dignity of the next Assembly.

We feel that the young men of the city of Little Rock have made a most excellent choice in electing Elliott as president of the Young Men's Chamber of Commerce, for he is a sunny lad from the sunny South, with ways that are more than alluring, and abilities that are unexcelled.

Brown and Wagner, our representative Advertising Managers on the Cardinal, are "Heroes of the Hour," having efficiently and satisfactorily solved the advertising difficulty with the business men of Little Rock, demonstrating to us all their marked abilities as hustlers and diplomats.

"Oh, fellows! Think of the fair ones who will be admiring Wood, our Athlete, this summer. Don't you wish you were one of the shining Stars of the American Baseball League?"

And so does the year pass, with much of work, and something of play, and we are ready for the Senior Year of our Course. Already we dream of our June, when we shall receive our diploma, and the honor of admission to the Bar of Arkansas. But should misfortune overtake us, we have penetrated deeply enough into the study of law to take away pleasant memories. We thank our friends of 1913-'14 for many of these, and we wish them success in the broader life upon which they are entering.

We realize that in future years we shall look back upon the present time as our golden age, and that the most pleasing feature memory will be able to recall is the fellowship existing between classmates and our distinguished lecturers. The sharing of success and disappointments, and the intimate contact of man to man, have cemented ties of friendship that will endure forever.

And Woman, lone Woman, what of Her?"

The Weekly Organization

The University Weekly is the live wire of the school. It is a newsy, up-to-date paper, published once a week by the student body and representing student sentiment.

Positions on the Weekly are based on merit. Each year there is a call made to all students to try out for reporters. From the number who try out, those who write the best stories, who are readiest to serve and who hand in stories promptly are chosen as reporters. After good work as Freshmen and Sophomore reporters, in their Junior years, reporters are given places of honor and service on the editorial staff.

Once a week all reporters and editors meet together to discuss news items which will be beneficial and instructive to the public. Each reporter has a regular beat and in addition to that he is given other news stories to write up for the week. These stories must be turned in to the office at a certain time or the whole scheme of business is upset. There is no maximum limit placed on a reporter's work. The more "scoops" he makes, the better position he will secure in the future.

When the stories are written they are corrected by the editors before passing thru the hands of the editor-in-chief. Certain men are scheduled each day to take the corrected stories to the printers' office. The printer makes a proof of the paper and submits it to the editor who makes the final corrections before sending it back to the printer. If each person does his part in this plan, the paper will come out promptly and well organized each Wednesday evening, but if the least one fails in his duty there is a delay and confusion to all.

All the articles are classified under heads, which each reporter must learn in order to successfully write a news story.

The editorials, which come from various sources, must all receive the approval of of the editor-in-chief before publication.

A plan is being drawn up to install a course of Journalism in the school next year. When this course is given the management of the Weekly will come under this department.

The Lee Literary Society

COLORS: Gold and Lavender.

MOTTO: To be rather than to seem.

Sketch.

The Lee Literary Society was founded in 1906 by five young men who are now taking prominent parts in the affairs of the State as able, broad-minded, and patriotic young men. The Lee Literary Society has always been creditably represented in the debates and inter-society contests, and it is composed of some of the strongest and most wide-awake young men of the University. The membership of the Lee Society is cosmopolitan—B. A.'s, Engineers, and Agri's, and all classes, from the Freshmen to the Seniors, are represented. By associating with men from all classes of work in the University, a student gets new ideas and different views of present questions which he does not receive in the class room. Each member who is in good standing is on program twice a month.

Arkansas-Tennessee Debate

UNIVERSITY CHAPEL.

FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1914.

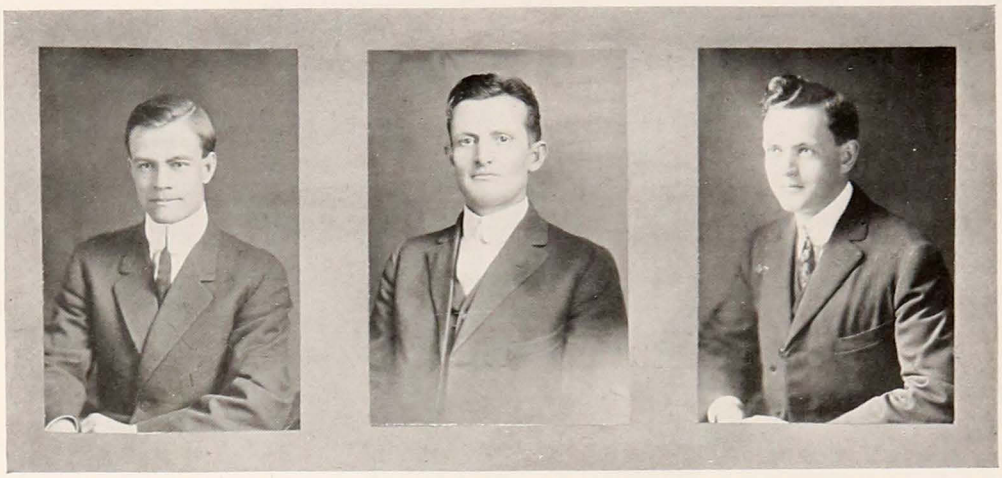
Resolved, That the President of the United States Should be Elected for a Term of Six Years and be Ineligible for Re-election.

The Arkansas affirmative team met Tennessee in the University Chapel and an appreciative audience closely followed the efforts of the contestants. Though Arkansas won the decision, the Tennessee debaters presented an argument that was forceful, clear-cut, and well put, and the debate was interesting throughout. The argument for Arkansas was presented by R. A. Ellis, '15, and J. D. Henry, '16. The Tennessee team, H. E. Malone and E. H. Denison, showed careful preparation and well planned modes of attack. The efforts of the several speakers won the hearty applause of the audience.

Texas-Arkansas Debate

AUSTIN, TEXAS, FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1914.

Resolved, That the President of the United States Should be Elected for a Term of Six Years and be Ineligible for Re-election.



Our negative team, I. C. Hopper and Fred Keller, journeyed to Austin to meet the always strong Texas team. The debate was, according to the Daily Texan, "One of the most evenly matched contests ever staged in the history of the Pentagonal League." The Arkansas team was well balanced and made Texas extend herself to the limit in order to win in a two to one decision.

Arkansas-Oklahoma Debate

UNIVERSITY CHAPEL.

MONDAY, APRIL 13, 1914.

Resolved, That Minimum Wage Legislation Should be Enacted in the United States.

Arkansas met Oklahoma this year in the first of a series of two debates. Oklahoma upheld the affirmative and Arkansas the negative. The debate was probably the most interesting ever heard in the Chapel. The Oklahoma debaters, J. Roy Orr and Walter Morrow, were well trained speakers, but the Arkansas boys, G. C. Carnes and Leslie Hurlock, were, at all stages, masters of the situation, and won a unanimous decision.

Arkansas University Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers

The Local Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, which was organized in the University of Arkansas in 1904, holds its meetings twice a month at the Engineering Hall. At these meetings papers and extracts from A. I. E. E. proceedings and electrical journals are read and discussed by the students. The Alumni, also, often send in papers relating to phases of engineering in which they are interested.

The Society keeps the student informed concerning the modern uses and applications of electricity, thus bringing him into close contact with men of his chosen professions and causing him to realize the importance of preparatory work.

G. D. Estes	Left Tackle.
E. M. Ratliff	Right Tackle.
Reed Fletcher	Right Guard.
E. W. Mills	Left Guard.

O. D. Parchman	Left Half.
R. V. May, Captain	Right Half.
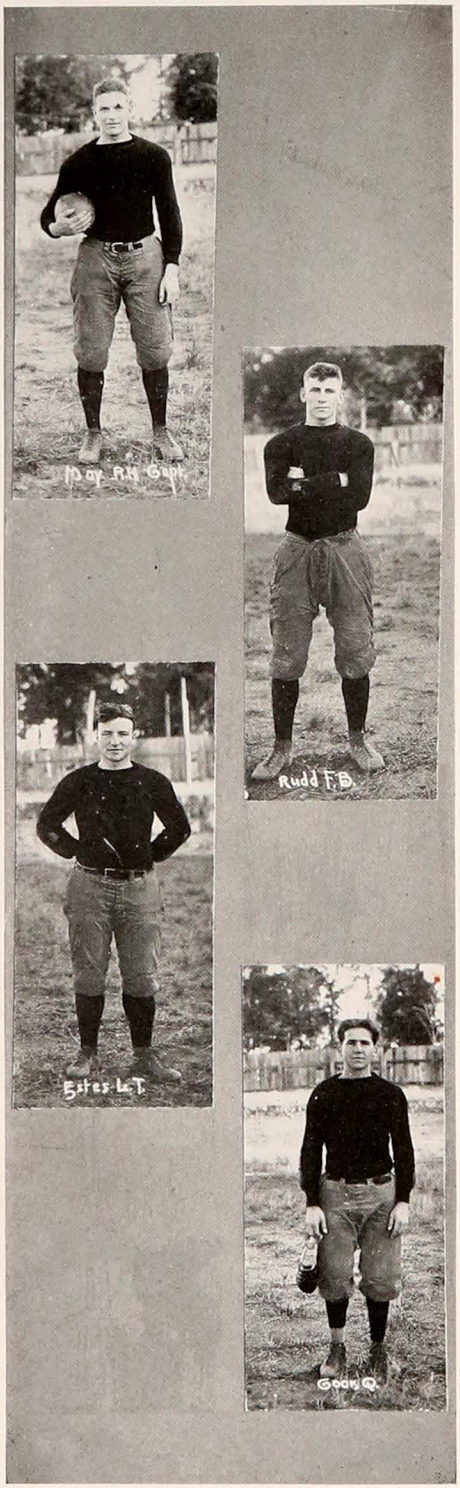
J. T. Rudd	Full Back.
J. N. Carter	Half Back.
A. S. Turner	End.
F. B. Dubs	Tackle.



R. V. May.

Captain "Rusty" at right half proved himself a past master of the game, and was the continual support of his team in all her tight places. He is undoubtedly in the "star class" and probably the greatest player on the offensive that we have ever had.

J. T. Rudd.

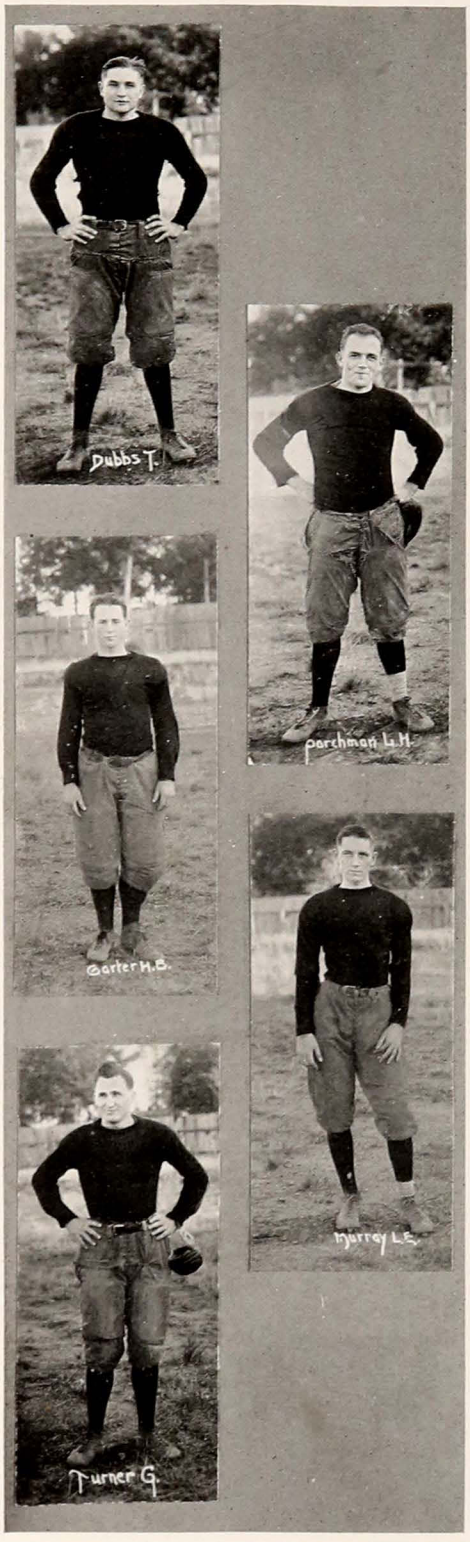
"Jimmie" is in no sense a spectacular player, but his certain gains through the line and the excellent interference which he furnishes, places the hard-working fullback as one of the strongest men on the team. He was chosen by his teammates to lead them to victory in the season of '14.

G. D. Estes.

Dan was with us again this season after a vacation of one year, and his presence in the game meant that the left side of the line was impenetrable. This is the big left tackle's last year and he retires from the gridiron in glory as one of the surest ground-gainers that has ever played on an Arkansas eleven.

Jake Cook.

"Kid" Cook, in this his first season of Varsity ball, has developed into one of the best quarterbacks Arkansas has ever known. He was especially successful in carrying the ball, and his kicking was a feature in every game.



F. B. Dubs.

Dubs was a support upon which the team could always rely. His immense size and knowledge of the game made him a very valuable man to the squad.

O. D. Parchman.

"Torchy" was at all time full of "fight," and his gains through the line were remarkable. Although this is his first season at the Varsity, the left half proved himself a wonder in the back field.

J. N. Carter.

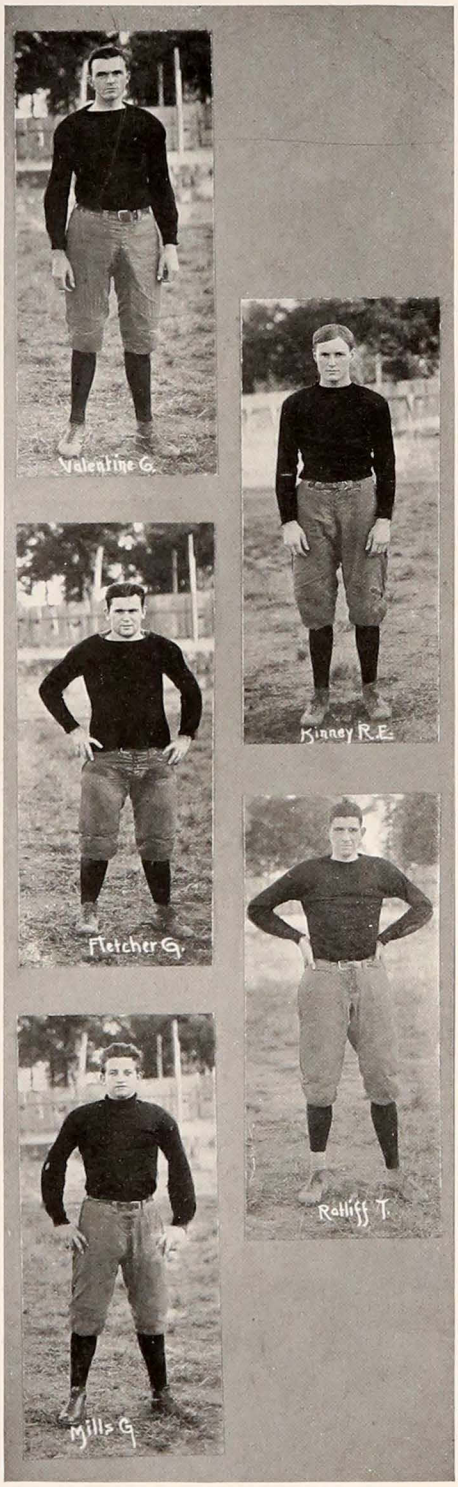
Carter was one of the swiftest men on the squad, and his remarkable gains in the Mississippi game totaled more than the gains of all his teammates combined.

J. H. Murrey.

Joe won his letter through untiring energy and hard work. His playing in the Oklahoma A. and M. game showed clearly that he is destined to be one of the greatest ends Arkansas has ever produced.

A. S. Turner.

Turner's former experience made him invaluable to the squad, as the big fellow was able to fill any position in which he might be placed. An injured shoulder kept him from a regular place, but in all games his work was excellent.



Paul Volentine.

Paul was in all the games played this season, and the great weight of the big center was a stumbling block on which all opposition fell.

J. S. Kinney.

Kinney was in every game played, and his speed and accuracy made the little right end a terror to all the teams we met. His sixty-yard run in the Baylor game was one of the most spectacular plays of the season.

Reed Fletcher.

"Fletch" came to us with a state-wide reputation as a high school star. He took to Varsity ball like a duck to water, and throughout the season played an excellent game at right guard.

E. M. Ratliff.

Ratliff was one of the most consistent players on the team, and in every game the big right tackle always made an opening in the opposing line.

E. W. Mills.

Mills at left guard played a good game all through the season, but he especially distinguished himself in the battle against Louisiana by the terrific fight he put up against the big center of the opposing team.

Foot Ball

With three men who were on the squad last year, and with the new system of play introduced by Coach Pickering, the Razorbacks entered the season of '13. The prospects were indeed bad, but under the direction of the new coach the season terminated very successfully.

May, Estes, and Rudd formed a nucleus about which the new material was placed, and under the direction of these veterans the famous Minnesota shift was executed to perfection. However, these men were not able at all times to hold the "youngsters" together, and upon two occasions Arkansas was forced to bite the dust.

The contest with Oklahoma A. and M. was possibly the hardest fought battle of the season. Captain May was out of the game, and the Razorbacks, realizing the handicap under which they labored, fought to the last ditch. Victory crowned their endeavor when Cook, the kicking phenomenon, made a field goal.

During the entire season Arkansas scored 137 points as opposed to 41 scored by her opponents. The season ended with the Thanksgiving game at New Orleans, where Tulane went down in defeat before the Razorbacks, by a score of 14 to 0. After this victory the team by a unanimous vote selected Rudd as their Captain, and, under his leadership, next year promises to be one of the most successful which Arkansas has ever experienced.

Base Ball

Arkansas opened the last ball season of 1913 when she defeated Fairmount on March 28th by a score of 9 to 3, and with this start she succeeded in winning twelve out of seventeen games played against collegiate opponents. During the nineteen games played, Arknasas was able to score 128 runs as opposed to 94 scored by her opponents, thus maintaining her high reputation and holding her accustomed place at the top of the ladder.

Captain Hinton showed marked ability as a pitcher throughout the season, pitching a no-hit game against C. B. C. at St. Louis and holding the Pittsburg Nationals to a score of 3 to 2, Pittsburg making the winning score upon an error. Achenbach led in the hitting line, with Stout, Norcott, Smith, and Geren following, all of them batting in the 300 class.

One of the tightest games of the season was that played at Fort Smith against Rolla School of Mines, in which Wood scored Millwee from second by a long drive to left center in the eleventh inning. This was the hardest game of the season and ended with a score of 6 to 5.

Arkansas made an extensive tour this season, playing at least seven games against the leading schools of the North. On this trip fortune did not smile quite so bright as might have been expected, as Wood was injured in the second game played, and out of the seven contests the Razorbacks could only claim victory on three occasions.

In a review of the season, however, we can reasonably say that Arkansas was indeed very successful, and that the team of '13 would reflect credit upon any educational institution in the South.

Book Six

The College Year

M. McFarlane

Foreword

To you who by your actions or inertness have consciously or unconsciously contributed to this section of the book;

To you who will not be offended if your name appears in more than one place, or if it does not appear at all;

We, trusting you will be impartial and sympathetic, present this for your consideration.

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 17. The offices of Drs. Shannon and Thomas crowded with students who desire to enter the University.

Sept. 18. Stella Scurlock gets lost from her brother.

Sept. 19. Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. give joint reception at Carnall Hall. 10:30 o'clock, and still the Freshmen do not know how to get away.

Sept. 22. Numerous green bows appear on Freshmen boys for some unknown (?) reason.

Sept. 24. William Porter asks Prof. Williams what course he is taking.

Sept. 25. Lieut. Wiley asks the girls and boys to initiate the Armory.

Sept. 26. Eleanor Forwood and Helen Stuckey prepare their famous sketch "A Pair of Lunatics."

Sept. 27. Armory formally opened by a Cadet Club dance. Everyone is happy over the dance and dance hall.

Sept. 28. Freshmen are still worrying over their cons.

Sept. 29. A Freshman bashfully approached the counter at the Palace Drug Store and called for an "Irish Mail Tablet."

OCTOBER

Oct. 5. Alfred Craig offers his toll bridge ticket to Dr. Brough for safe keeping.

Oct. 6. The new girls start hazing.

Oct. 7. Annie Laurie Jones loses her a la Chinese finger nails.

Oct. 9. Bushy Horton springs his automatic holt.

Oct. 10. A voice at the phone is heard to say: "Is this Pauline Collins?"
Pauline: "Yes."
Voice: "Well, I declare"—and the receiver is hung up.

Oct. 12. Freshman Purkey asks Mrs. Austin if she has a date for the dance.

Oct. 15. Mable Hon (at the dinner table): "You know after reading 'Ivanhoe' I thought the name 'Minnehaha' beautiful."

Oct. 16. Lucas visits the library, but is frightened away.

Oct. 18. Those "rude boys" indulge in a shirt-tail parade.

Oct. 20. Jim Wynn accidently falls asleep in Ec. 10.

Oct. 21. Chillie Erwin has a nightmare in Ec. 8 and turns over his chair.

Oct. 22. Joe Clement wakes up and goes to class.

Oct. 25. Lucile Laser helps Rita Armitage elope.

Oct. 26. The Freshmen begin to worry about their uniforms.

NOVEMBER

Nov. 1. A few go to Fort Smith to see the ball game, and for other purposes. Arkansas wins, 26-7.

Nov. 5. Six o'clock. Huber makes a date.

Nov. 6. Some boys are behind times and play Hallowe'en stunts.

Nov. 7. Juniors give a small but select dance.

Nov. 9. Helen Stuckey asks Eleanor what Theta Un Epsilon means.

Nov. 11. Lillian Lawson, M. A., shocks Prof. Walker by saying that she does not like "Faerie Queen."

Nov. 14. Delta Delta Delta give their installation dance. Prof. Williams uses the girls' dressing room to put on his powder.

Nov. 16. Fred Keller says he doesn't like these tight trousers, because he has to put them on over his head.

Nov. 18. Stella Scurlock writes a note to Prof. Walker—very nice note, too.

Nov. 22. Mr. and Mrs. Suffield celebrate their cotton wedding anniversary.

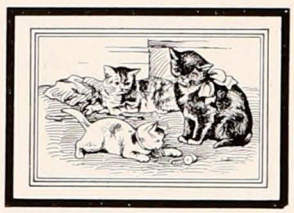
Nov. 24. Prof. Goode warns students not to work too hard—(especially girls).

Nov. 26. Small crowd celebrates Thanksgiving with a dance in the Armory.

Nov. 27. Pi Kappa Alpha entertain with an informal house dance.
Sigma Xis give a dinner dance.

Nov. 28. Carnall Hall celebrates the holiday with breakfast at 11 o'clock.

Nov. 29. The Armory has a familiar scene with the boys in their uniforms at the Thanksgiving Cadet dance.



DECEMBER

Dec. 2. Daddy Droke cuts a class.

Dec. 3. Prof. Hawkins fails to shave his upper lip.

Dec. 4. Lillian Lawson writes 59th Baconian essay.

Dec. 6. Junior-Senior football game.

Dec. 7. Marco Roys drops a nickle in the collection plate and does without a "coke" for a week.

Dec. 9. E. T. Smith hurts his imagination trying to write a theme, and goes to the Infirmary.

Dec. 10. Sid Cochran is too lame to dance the "lame duck."

Dec. 12. A german is given by Kappa Sigmas as the annual dance.

Dec. 13. Board of Trustees visit Carnall Hall. Various non-admittance signs appear immediately.

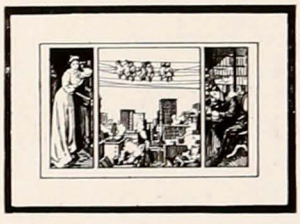
Dec. 15. Freshman dance—'nuff said.

Dec. 16. Prof. Hawkins' lip needs shaving badly.

Dec. 17. Freshman Holmes decides to buy his apples instead of getting them otherwise.

Dec. 18. Y. W. C. A. gives Xmas tree for the children of Carnall Hall.

Dec. 19. Theta Nu Epsilon annual dance.
"Cases" bid each other a fond and affectionate farewell.
The "Special" leaves for Little Rock.
It is whispered that Prof. Hawkins is attempting to develop a mustache.



JANUARY

Jan. 4. Where is Bob Waters' diamond ring?

Jan. 5. The students return with their New Year resolutions to study hard—at least within the next three or four weeks.

Jan. 6. Prof. Mather: "Mr. Bransford, what is spring-tide?"
Mr. B.: "That is when the trees become green and the flowers spring up."

Jan. 7. Still many missing faces. Probably they forgot to come back.

Jan. 9. Prof. Walker delights his classes by being absent.

Jan. 12. "Dub" Lake asks his Ec. 1 class if they think room 21 is an Old Soldiers' Home.

Jan. 14. Virginia Osborne announced that she has lost her rooster kimono.
The girls all admire Prof. Hawkins more and more.

Jan. 15. "Jabe" Lake changes his time for securing milk at the dairy. He now gets it in the day time.

Jan. 22. Prof. Hawkins had a picture made of his mustache.

Jan. 24. Trials and tribulations of the students begin.

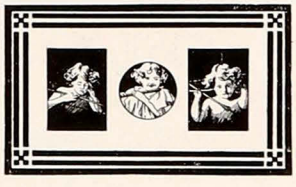
Jan. 25. Freshman Richardson announces his arrival.

Jan. 27. Place: Chemistry Building.
Time: Economics examination.
Girl: Essie H. "Prof. Carothers, is there a blotter on the desk?"
Then Prof. Carothers turns on the water.

Jan. 28. Joe Clements, in studying for examination, finds who wrote the Economics 1 Book.

Jan. 30. The boys decide that coasting is a cure for examinations.

Jan. 31. Great rejoicing in the University after the long siege of examinations. Dance in honor of Miss Mary's birthday.



FEBRUARY

Feb. 1. Sixteen candles on Miss Mary's birthday cake.

Feb. 2. Bethel: "Prof. Lentz, what did I make in German?"
Prof. Lentz: "Ach! mistakes."

Feb. 3. Prof. Hawkins has his mustache shaved off.

Feb. 5. Departing couple showered with rice at the depot.

Feb. 8. Mable Constant: "I just love Rogers; you know I would like to live there."

Feb. 10. Dorothy Lighton postpones her trip to Wellesley indefinitely.

Feb. 10. Cardinal Day.

Feb. 11. Prof. Jewell: "Well, we all know about the marathon."
Miss Wolf: "Yes, I know all about him."

Feb. 12. Lincoln's birthday, but no one remembered it.

Feb. 14. Zeta Tau Alpha give a dance, complimenting Delta Delta Delta.

Feb. 15. Richardson eats too much butter. Strapping is the result.

Feb. 16. Richardson says he is going to reform this institution.

Feb. 21. The Editor goes on the war-path.

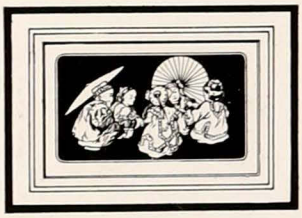
Feb. 22. Helen Stuckey sits up all night with her dog.
Dormitories inspected.

Feb. 24. The Editor writes a whole ream of stuff for the Cardinal—poems, jokes, short essays, etc.

Feb. 26. The ream increases to 100 pages.

Feb. 27. Sigma Nu give their annual dance.

Feb. 28. The chickens at Carnall Hall mysteriously disappear.
The Sigma Xis have their annual chicken stew.



MARCH

March 2. Orderly asks Prof. Mather where Prof. Drake is—
Prof. Mather: "He is in the Museum."

March 3. Boys appear with green feathers in coat lapels.
A great spirit moves the Editor, but fails to move him to the class meeting. Forrest pulls off a sensational filibuster.

March 4. Essie tries to blow out the gas in the Biology laboratory.

March 11. Martin Boyd forgets to wear his medal.

March 13. Sigma Phi Epsilon have their dance.

March 17. Engineers' Day. Engineers celebrate with a dance.

March 18. Hooper and Huber win a rook game.

March 25. Election day, but we can't vote.

March 27. Pi Kappa Alpha give their formal dance.

Ben Williams makes a date.

APRIL

April 3. R. A. Ellis and J. D. Henry win the intercollegiate debate with Tennessee.
Blackshare gets too much punch.
Katherine Banta entertains Mr. Denison.

April 4. Pi Beta Phi give their annual dance.

April 5. Henry severely criticized because he "split an infinitive" Friday evening.

April 5. Keller says he was treated to a beer and a cigar in Texas.

April 6. Freshman English class leaves the following note for Prof. Walker, who is late: "We have went home."

April 7. Prof. Walker walks into English room and writes on the board: "I have came back."

April 8. Joyner arranges for class day at convocation and delivers his speech.

April 11. The ream completely disappears without a single page getting in the Cardinal.

April 12. Mab Hon chases her new spring bonnet down Dixon Street.

April 13. Arkansas debates Oklahoma.

April 14. Inspection. Much sprucing up.

April 15. At the girls' dormitory phone: "Miss Park, would you like to go to the ball game?"
Mrs. Park: "Yes, but you must be mistaken; I am the matron."
The receiver hung up quickly.

April 17. Sigma Xis give their annual dance.

April 20. Prof. Williams, talking to Reba Alexander: "Oh! I am scared pink, for there is diphtheria next door to my house."

April 24. Xi Omega have their annual dance.

MAY

May 1. The last Cadet dance.

May 2. Everybody begins to study, for the 30-day law is on.

May 8. Spring affects the young men. Proof of this is that Mr. Ott makes a date.

May 11. Miss Mary catches Mr. Butts talking to a girl in the Main Hall.

May 14. Si Winfrey is seen reading "Molly Brown's Freshman Days."

May 16. Berry Holt loses his wooden whistle.

May 17. Ira Hopper loses his summer school souvenir.

May 20. Berry Holt finds his wooden whistle.

May 21. Hamp Smead lays down a book on library desk and then calls for Wright's "Sociology."
Mrs. Austin: "You just laid it down, Mr. Smead."

May 27. Hopper still disconsolate.

May 28. There is wailing and gnashing of teeth on account of the exams.

May 29. Young ladies of the University plan to darn socks of the young gentlemen. No more holes above low shoes.

JUNE

June 1. Everyone is studying.

June 6. The final exams end.

June 7. Baccalaureate sermon.

June 8. Cadets drill.

June 9. Class play.

June 10. Commencement Day. Some of the boys are sad, and a few are glad. It all depends upon whether she resides here or at home.

Special Poses for The Cardinal.

Stony Phiz

Who is the man with visage grim?
Stony Phiz.
Who made us all afraid of him?
Stony Phiz.
Who, without show of force or vim,
Has made us either sink or swim,
Without one bit of help from him?
Stony Phiz.

Who is it speaks of naught but rock?
Stony Phiz.
And thinks my head is naught but block?
Stony Phiz.
Who talks forever in a drawl?
Who showed compassion not at all?
Who is it caused my pride to fall?
Stony Phiz.

Who is it gives me grade of P?
Stony Phiz.
Whom do I never wish to see?
Stony Phiz.
Who is as cross as he can be,
And never smiles to you and me,
But always frowns forbiddingly?
Stony Phiz.

You should consider and beware,
Stony Phiz.
You'd better breathe an honest prayer,
Stony Phiz.
For you I heave a dreadful sigh;
Too well I know that bye and bye
You'll never die, but petrify,
Stony Phiz.

Notice.

A young man of wealth, cultivation and refinement wishes to occupy his leisure time during the summer corresponding with a limited number of young ladies, between the ages of sixteen and twenty. Object, mutual improvement and perhaps—matrimony. Apply to Harvey Tyson, '14.

STOP! While the Quartet gives that swelling Anthem:
"Cut Down Expenses."
Boy's Dormitory.

Be sure you enter this section of the Cardinal with the right sort of spirit; do not feel any envy for the unfortunate writer; never laugh unless you are tickled, then do not suppress your emotion.

Thomas: "When does a man laugh at a joke which is not funny?"
Watters: "When the Professors tell them."

Was He Right?

McConnell (writing a paper in Economics), "Idleness is the cause of negro immortality."

Of Course.

"Which one does you like best, Sambo?"
Sambo: "I likes as-bestos."

A New Discovery.

Ira Hopper on making his deductions from an experiment in Physics, determining the value of π made this statement:

"We conclude from the above data that π is not equal to the circumference of a disc divided by the diameter."

A Logical Conclusion.

Martin Boyd, answering the argument, "A Republican form of Government is a menace to our common good," said, "If that be so, the United States have been a menacing for twenty-five years."

Very Successful.

The writer has in mind an alumnus who started with fifty cents and in twenty years he was the possessor of $100,000.00 because of his frugality, thrift and good habits, and the fact that his rich uncle died and left him $99,999.50.

Lost.

One blue bow tie in the auditorium of the Baptist Sunday School, between the hours of ten and eleven, from the neck of Merlin Fisher. The recipient of said piece of apparel will subside the emotions of the gentleman by returning the property.

R. L. Potter would like to know what course he can take next year.

R. D. Lee wants the world, and the students, too, to know he is not necessarily a Freshman because he is no larger.

A Simple Problem.

"She: "You may kiss me on one condition"—

Rodgers: "That's easy—I entered the Freshman class with three conditions."

Well, I guess you had better take a little Math.

The Past

He kissed me. Oh, he kissed me,
In those happy days gone by.
His arm my waist encircled,
And his hand so tenderly
Enfolded mine, and Oh, he whispered
Words as sweet as words can be.
For he vowed by earth and heaven
That he loved me, only me.
And his love would never falter
Till his loving lips grew cold.
'Twas the selfsame sweet old story,
Always new, yet ever old.

Can it be that I shall never
Hear those tender words again?
Feel those kisses falling gently
Like the patter of soft rain
From the clouds of dusky mustache
Down on cheek, and lips and brow?
When did he die? Oh, he's not dead,
But he's my husband now.

Some People's Idea of What a University Is For

Harvey Mixon	To study (?) French.
Lucile Laser	To giggle incessantly.
R. A. Ellis	To minister to the sick with flowers.

A Chemistry Class

The whistle blows, and a number of drowsy Freshmen drift up the steps into the Chemistry lecture room. After giving quite a lengthy explanation of the lesson, Professor Morrow asks,—

"How do you make water gas, Mr. Jelks?"

"Why we, —you, —in order to—to make water gas, you burn ——n"

Professor: "Burn what?" quite impatiently.

Some one near suggests onions. "You burn onions," answered he quite confidently. At this point Jelks was taken from the room by the Orderly.

"Now," said Professor Morrow, "we have arrived—or let us imagine we have—to carbon dioxide and carbolic acid. Who knows the difference?"

Mr. Fisher: "Well they're spelled different I think,"—thinking a moment—"they smell differently, too."

Professor: "Discuss the subject at greater length, Mr. Mason."

Mason: "Why, carbolic acid is longer."

"By weight or volume?" queries the Professor. "Solve the mystery, Mr. Hazard."

Hazard is aroused by the noise and rubs his eyes—"It's insoluble"—

"What is?"—asks Professor Morrow.

Hazard: "That substance you were discussing,—it was—was—"

"Carbolic acid," shouted Prof. Morrow, quite impatiently, "what is it used for?"

"For dyeing purposes," says Hazard.

"Which kind?"

"I didn't know there was but one kind."

Another butts in,—"Carbolic acid is used for making 'Sundaes'."

"Now Mr. Smith, how is oxalic acid produced?"

"From the ox, I think."

"Next ten pages,—Class dismissed."

Professor Submits.

Prof. Droke: "How many sides has a circle, Mr. Clarke?"
Clarke: "Two."
Prof. Droke: "How do you get that?"
Clarke: "It has an inside and an outside."

Quips and Cranks.

What race is born to blush unseen?
Negroes.

When are stockings like dead men?
When they are men-ded; when their souls are departed; when they are in holes; when they are past heeling; when they are no longer on their last legs.

"His everlasting smile conveys nothing."—Randolph.

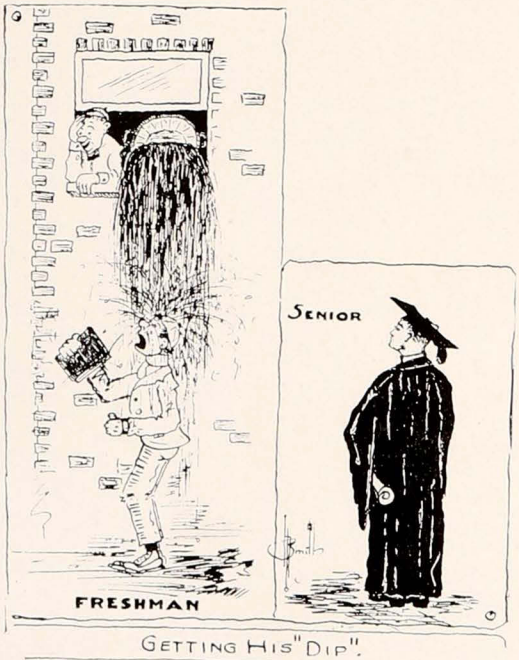
Gets her beauty sleep in class.—Helen Stuckey.

His devious way is lined like the Mississippi River—by bluffs—R. D. Lee.

Why are some women like facts?
They are stubborn things.

Wrapped in the solitude of his own originality.—E. T. Smith.

He chews spearmint to purify the evening kiss.—Garner.



GETTING HIS "DIP".

Nothing Strange.

Stewart, Clyde: Say, old lady, did you see how pleasantly that girl smiled at me?"

Stewart, Charles: "Why, that's not strange. I smiled out loud the first time I saw you."

What Is Beauty?

"Grouch" Hale: "Gee, that's a pretty woman," pointing to a passing dame.
Stone: "I don't know how you can tell, since her face is covered."
Hale: "Good God man! look at the clothes she has on."
Stone: "Then it's clothes that make a woman?"
Hale: "Sure; a can properly dressed would be pretty."

One More of God's Children Erred.

Applegate went to the store room at the Chemistry Building and signed for some pieces of apparatus called "burettes." For some unknown reason he signed for two brunettes. Whereupon, Professor Morrow thought one would suffice.

Marriage is a desperate thing.—Mrs. Shuffield.

When a man tries to make himself look beautiful, he steals a woman's patent right.

In a recent debate,—Resolved: That the gun is more powerful than the newspaper. Mr. Carolan said: "Now, Mr. Judges, suppose there were a bear at the door and you should go and shake a newspaper at him, you know what he would do. But just discharge a cannon at him and see what results. I call for the question."

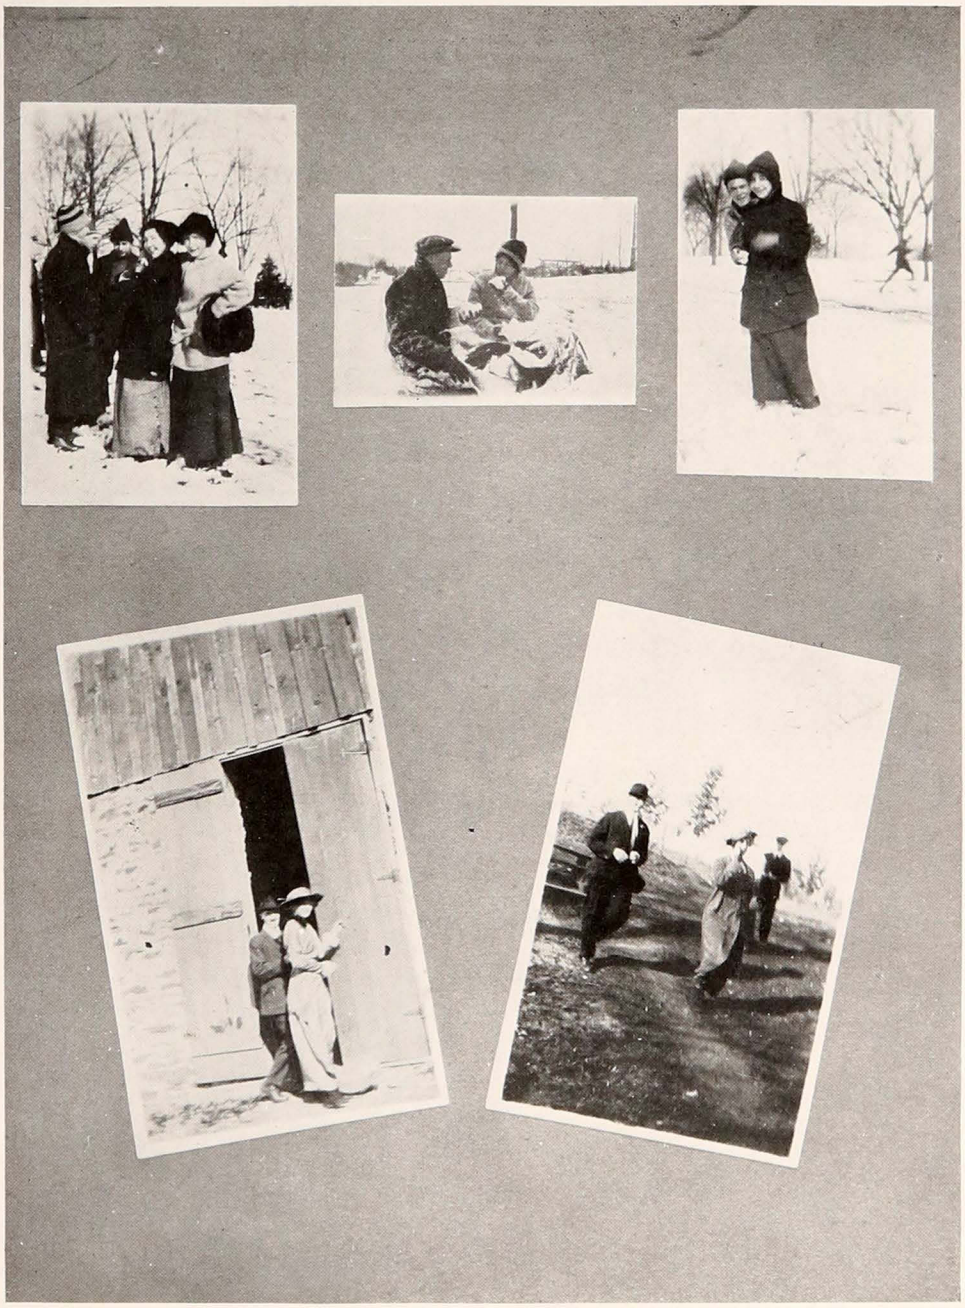
Bush, while on the Frisco from Fayetteville to Fort Smith, saw a very beautiful maiden looking somewhat inviting. "Say, Miss", said he, "is this seat engaged?"

"No," was the calm reply, "but I am."

Prof. Wilson: "Mr. Humphreys, how many pounds of water would it take to make a pound of steam?"
Mr. Humphreys: "About twenty," was the timid answer.
Prof. Wilson: "Then what becomes of all that weight?"
Mr. Humphreys: "Oh, it vaporizes, and does not way anything."

Mr. McGill, one of the two members of Greek II, said he was afraid to prepare a good lesson, because the Professor might assign more next time.

"Pressure is the unit area."—Waugh.



To My Shoe

Dear old shoe, you're worn and rough,
But even so, are good enough
For such as me.
You show all signs of service past
But for a time you yet must last
And still serve me.

When I look at you from the rear,
I almost quake with dread and fear
Lest you should reel.
You look so queer and all run-down,
Where once was black now homely brown,
You poor old heel.

And when I view you from the toe,
You seem in haste as wont to go
On errands bent.
Your buttons loose hang anywise,
The holes outstretched to twice their size,
Your best days spent.

I feel just like you look, old shoe,
So tired and worn, discouraged too,
I feel quite sore.
But like you still I'll plod me on
Nor pause to rest till work is done
And tests are o'er.

J. T. Batton was asked for a dance with his girl by Mr. Gilliam. After an effective entreaty the latter was granted the distinction of half a dance with the lady in question. "Take her," said Batton, but remembering his law,—"Theory of Contracts," said: "I give and bequeath to you, Mr. Gilliam, to have and to hold in trust, one-half of my right, title and claim, and my advantage in a dance known as the 'One Step', with Miss ....., with all her hair, paniers, rings, belts, hair-pins, smelling bottles and straps, with all right and advantage therein; with full power to have, hold, encircle, whirl, toss, squeeze, or otherwise use,—except to smash, break or otherwise damage—and with right temporarily to convey the said Miss....., her hair, paniers, rings, straps and other heretofore or hereinafter mentioned, after such whirl, squeeze, etc., to her natural parents, now living, and without regard to any deed or deeds or instruments, of whatever kind or nature soever, to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding."

"Tension is the force that makes a wire move out of its place."—Robertson.

Where's that guy who said "Ignorance is bliss" !!

Why?

On reading the account of the destruction by fire of the Main building and Girls' Dormitory of Henderson-Brown College, and how heroically the manly cadets of the two schools rescued the young ladies from a parching grave, "General" Hooper unconsciously exclaimed: "I wish Carnall Hall would catch a fire."

"Love me and the world is mine."—Grant Cruze.

"If you would speak of love, then speak in French."—Carrie Arnold.

"He stoops (not from necessity) to conquer."—Mr. Clarke.

"I have no other, but a woman's reason.
I think him so, because I think him so."—Eleanor Forward.

"Render to them, therefore, all their dues."—Class Treasurer.

Professor Wilson: "How do gases expand, Mr. Roys?"
Mr. Roys: "Why, they expand chiefly by constant volume."

Dr. Carroll: "Mr. McBride, how do you detect hydrogen sulphide?"
McBride: "Instinct."

"Agronomy 395 is where you cut the weeds from the fence corner."—Quick.

"An he was not right fat I undertake."—Lloyd Parsons.

"I'm sure care's an enemy to life."—Bob Walkup.

In Ec. 8, discussing State against National Control of conservation, Mr. Woodfin was asked for another argument in favor of the state, answered: "Well, in case of war we would call out the state militia."

Ec. 10. Evidence Is Being Discussed.

Dr. Brough: "Now Mr. Holt, will you tell me please sir, whether the theory of organic evolution or its opposite would be presumed?"
Mr. Holt: (thinking which guess to make, answers) "Well,——a——I believe the opposite would be."

Dr. Thomas in History 3: "What was Gadsen's Purchase?"
Mr. Nelson: "Cotton and canned goods."

Chem. II. During a discussion of the effect of containing vessels on water, and other liquids, Mr. McBride asked:
"Dr. Carroll, are tin cans copper?"
I refuse to write the answer.

A Junior: "I thought you had 'Trig' last year."
A Soph.: "I did, this is the aftermath."

By Way of Explanation.

Mr. Ellis offered the Editor a liberal sum to put a joke in the Cardinal concerning him and his girl, as an advertisement.

Bob Earle: "My dear, you are the breath of my life."
She: "Then don't hold your breath too often."

Out of the Darkness

(It is said that when the first Democratic President after the War was elected, students of the University of Arkansas lighted candles and placed them in windows and towers. A pretty light was thus made which could be seen for a great distance.)

And still their lights are gleaming
From the windows and the towers,
And their old forgotten story
Mingles strangely now with ours.

In the heat of youthful pleasure
Lighted they their tapers bright,
And the beauty of their beaming
Cast a splendor o'er the night.

Lighted by the great Death god's tapers,
The noblest to their graves have crept,
Though their memory lives on tides of music
That down the years have dreamed and slept.

But still their lights are gleaming
From the windows and the towers,
But their old forgotten story
Mingles sadly now with ours.

—Jerry Wallace.

Dr. Jewell in History of Education.
"Mr. Trimble, what people believe in animism?"
Trimble, replying quickly, "Barbarians."
* Twenty minutes later, in same recitation.
Dr. Jewell: "Miss Wyche, do you believe in luck?"
Miss Wyche: "Yes, sir."
Dr. Jewell: "Then you believe in animism?"
Miss Wyche: "I do, certainly."
Dr. Jewell: "Mr. Trimble," calls second time, and the latter arousing from a state of lethargy, looks wise, "Who did you say believed in animism?"
Mr. Trimble: "Only barbarians."

Mrs. Marinoni, dancing with Clyde Stewart, asked: "What is the name of that piece the orchestra is playing?"
Stewart: (readily responding) "Oh, that's no piece at all; it's an extra."

Professor Gladson: "When would a motor have maximum horse power?"
Mr. Parsons: "When standing still."

"This is no High School course."—Dr. Carroll speaking of Chemistry 5.

"Not every one who says Lord, Lord, will pass this course, but only they who stay awake all during my lecture."—Mr. Schwartz, Biology 1.

"You know only those things you use."—Miss Bland.

"Tests now come as a thief in the night. * * * * take heed, ye Freshmen, that when weighed in the balance ye may not be found wanting."—Prof. Droke.

"What is the striking difference between a Latin student and an Agri.?"
"The Agri. cares for the 'pony' and the B. A. 'rides.' "

Walkup: "He must have a fine line."

Hooper, looking through Pool's Index for some material on the Philippine question, saw this: "Scenes in Rio de Janiero," asked Mrs. Austin: "Is that the name of one of the Philippine Islands?"

Bear Ye One Another's Burdens.

This was Hall's motto until the lieutenant "balled him out," thinking he was Keith, the instigator of a damnable petition.

"Success," says Dr. Jewell, "is a series of rear-end collisions."

Mr. Fisher, who hesitated at the door with his ——— affinity for a sweet answer, refuses to tell just what took place, but grants he saw the old man, and had success.

Bob Walkup was sitting beside his affinity (?) at a game last fall when she shyly whispered:

"Doesn't that pop corn smell good?"

"Yes,," Bob readily agreed, "let's move down a few seats till we can smell it better."

"Say, think you'll ever amount to anything?"—I. C. Hopper.

"Ye Gods, Ye Gods, can I endure all this?"—Irene Taylor.

Thomas (to Miss Hardin, the Nurse in the Infirmary): "Can you disguise castor oil?"
"Yes," she kindly replied.
A few minutes later.
Miss Hardin: "Drink some of this tea, son. Now you've taken the castor oil."
"Oh," gasped Thomas, "I did not want it for myself, but for my old lady."

Harvey Tyson with his girl at the Crescent, when he was given the list of sundaes, readily exclaimed: "We don't want to read, we only want a drink."

"Nowhere so busy a man as he there was, and yet he seemed more busy than he was."—G. C. Carnes.

Professor Williams (to Mr. Martin): "What can you say of Scott's emotion?"
Mr. Martin: "I think that is one of his best books."

Mr. Williams (teaching in the training school): "Now Willie, can you tell us how many zones the earth has?"

Willie: "Five."

Mr. Williams: "Correct. Now name them."

Willie: "Temperate, intemperate, canal, horrid and ozone."

J. D. Henry says A. A. Keith, his old lady, can distinguish between an ox and a donkey, rice and peanuts, potatoes and apples, but he is unable to tell hard cider from hyrant water.

Dr. Jewell to his Psychology class: "Now you see it is not the object that has the color, the shape and qualities in general, but the mind of the observer."

Unfortunate Student: "Is that the reason I 'flunked'?"

Wanted to Know.

Dr. Thomas in History: "Now Mr. Bush will you name President Washington's cabinet officers?"

Bush names them, one of whom was named Knox, Secretary of War.

Dr. Thomas: "Someone please name President's Taft's cabinet officers?"

They are given (one whose name is Knox).

B. C. Arnold's curiosity is aroused over the two Knox officers, and asks: "Are they the same man?"

Four Rules in Table Etiquette.

1. Thou shalt not be later than five minutes, lest thy pie be masticated.

2. Thou shalt not bring lady visitors to dinner, lest the wrath of thy table fellows fall upon thee for painful etiquette.

3. Thou shalt not pass Wilson the flesh first, lest his table companions be left wanting.

4. Thou shalt never eat more than thy allotted portion, lest ye be shamefully banished from the table.

Some Wit.

Williams: "The Turkish Army was scattered like wool."

Newton: "I bet it's worsted."

Archimedes' Principle—Its Practical Application.

"This principle," argues Mr. Buford in Physics 1, "involves a striking phenomenon in every-day life. Mr. Archimedes," he continues, "says when a body is immersed it loses weight which is equal to the amount of water it contains. This was discovered while Mr. Archimedes was taking a bath one day. He found that his body was losing weight, and he immediately left the water, screaming 'Eureka! Eureka!' "

He is a man of unbounded stomach.—"Woodrow" Wilson.

Answers to Correspondents.

Miss Petit, to Mr. Wells: In order to make red hair black, remove it, put it in solution with acid and generate hydrogen sulphide into the mixture.

A. A. Keith: Mucilage mixed thoroughly into the hair before retiring will prevent baldness and preserve pompadours.

Mr. Cruze: A little dynamite will clean a pipe of yours in the twinkle of an eye.

Mr. Mixon: Old automobile tires make excellent teething rings for the baby.

J. D. Henry: Tincture of iodine and crystallized potash, taken only once internally, will cure you of the smoking habit.

Harvey Tyson: The way to be optimistic is to hang your mirror on your window, and instead of looking out on dreary, gloomy nature, look at yourself in the mirror.

Bob Thornton: Hot coffee is an excellent solution for removing dandruff, and will also make the hair stand beautifully.

New Music Pupil: "Yes, I learned to play entirely by ear."
Professor Tovey: "And have you never had an earache?"

A. N. Thomas: "Where do you get your hats, Louis?"
Holmes: "At the dances, generally, but sometimes I have been lucky enough to exchange at church."

Very Useful.

Professor Grant: "You say you are engaged in some original research. Upon what subject?"

Carnes: "I'm trying to discover why the ink won't flow from my fountain pen unless I place it in an upright position in the pocket of a fancy vest."

Lieut. Wiley: "Where's your belt?"

Hale: "I forgot it."

Lieut. Wiley: "What would you think of a soldier going to war without a rifle?"

Hale: "I'd think he was an officer."

Too Late to Classify.

On April 17 there was a glorious Junior-Senior Day, in which many things came to pass. The Sophs and Freshies essayed to take part, and as a result many of them are still taking their meals from off the mantle-piece.

"Polky Dotty."

He's a thing of health and beauty
With a limp,
He's a genius with a little Mental crimp.
You oughter heard him beller,
When a gypsy fortune teller
Said his future was a scaffold
And some hemp.

He's a truly mental Samson,
But he's lame.
He's kept most mighty busy
Dodging fame.
You can ask most anybody,
They will tell you "Poky Dotty"
Is either his condition
Or his name.
